Antioch growth hastens need for schools and referendum

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Antioch's growth has been so rapid that that the village is going to have a special census taken to capture all tax dollars available. Without much fanfare District 34 has been coping with the growth and using a total of 16 portable classrooms throughout the district. The school board and a special committee have decided it will not be enough to keep up with the rapid growth that shows no sign of slowing.

A special committee made up of teachers, board members and area residents examined all of the factors that have contributed to the growth and do not see it slowing down any time soon. The District 34 School Board asked them to study the situation and find a way to deal with the steady growth.

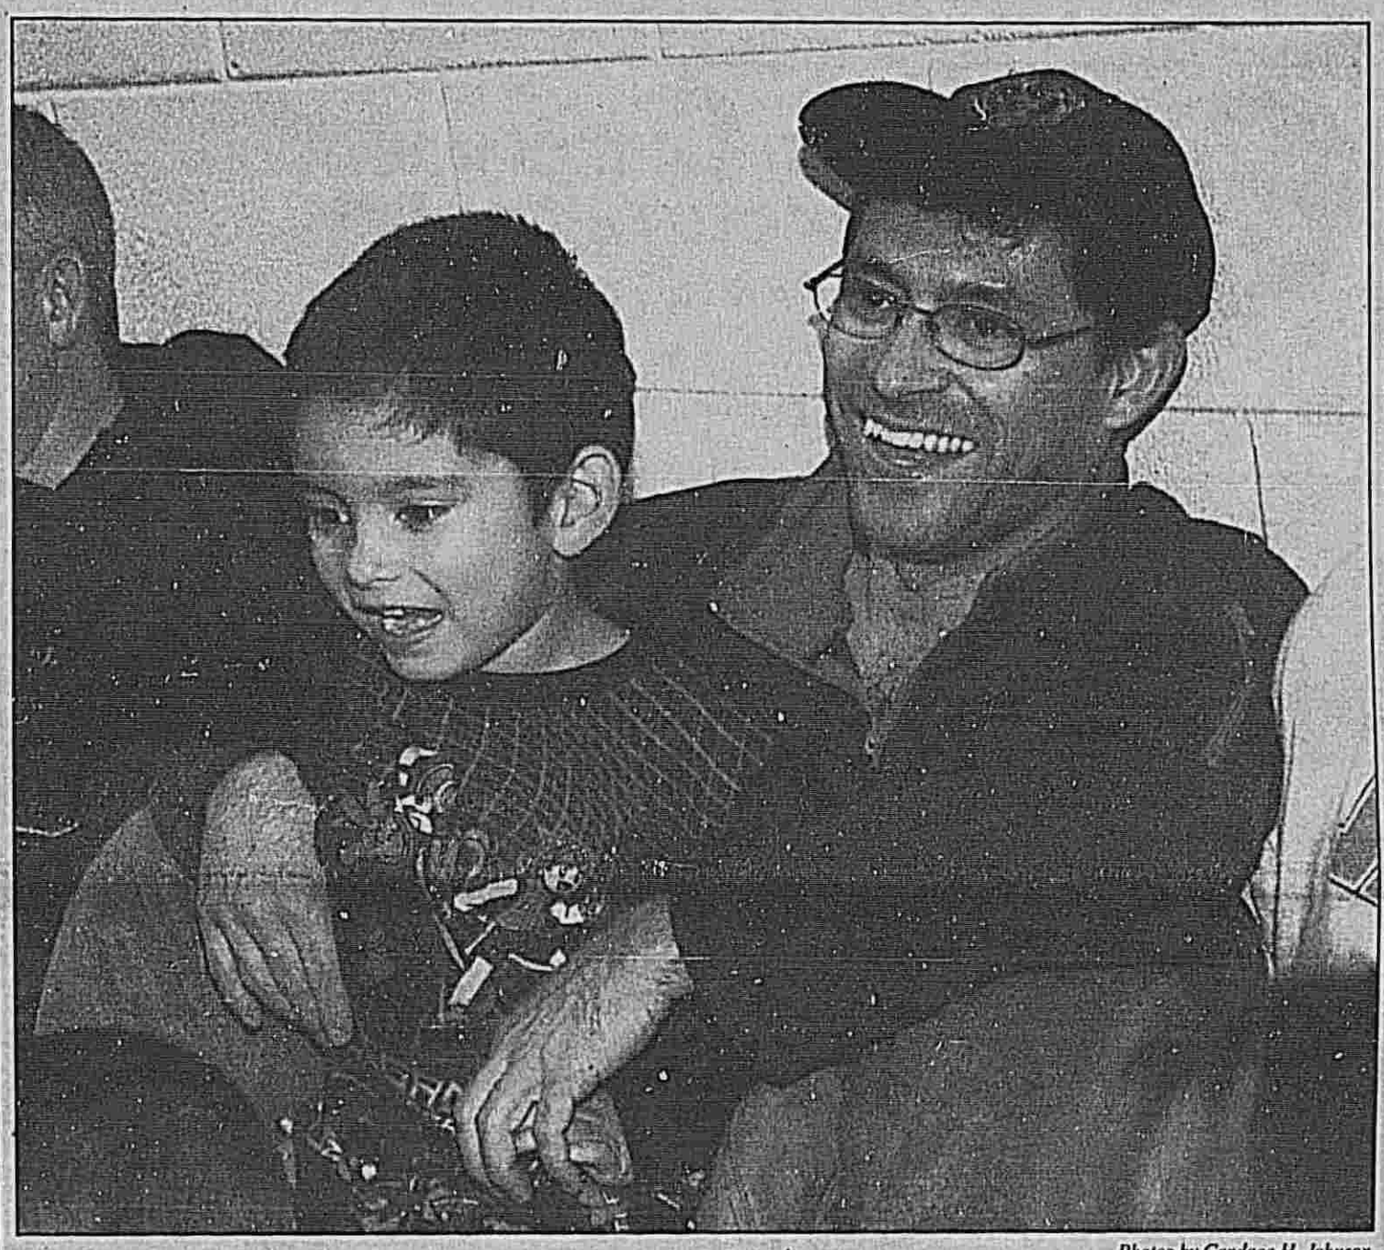

By eliminating the options that will not provide a long-term solutions, the committee suggested that the board begin building two new schools on property the district owns.

The committee broke into small groups that each found their own way to the same conclusion. Two new schools must be built and a referendum will more than likely be needed to finance it. They decided that building one school would not be enough to make a long-term difference. One Early Childhood Center school would be built on the North Avenue/Tiffany Road site. They proposed a second building would be constructed on the Savage Road site and would be built to accommodate a junior high school at some point. Until that time, it could be used in ways to accommodate other age groups.

Initially, no one spoke of the obvious need which would be the money to complete the project. Two architectural firms offered tentative

ACHS students consider options at career day

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

What to you want to be when you grow up? That's a question many are asked and as children, finding the answer is more difficult than ever as the end of high school is in sight.

ACHS has given their students a large variety of career possibilities to study first-hand. They could learn about a career option they would like to consider.

One of the options was a firefighter, the resurrected choice of many pre-school children, and seven students went to the Antioch Fire Department to glean a great

AUGS band gets marching orders to New York

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

As the only middle school band in Illinois to be invited to march in the New York St. Patrick's Day Parade in New York City, the band members are truly recognized for their musicianship. Band Director Earl Bush said a lot of credit goes to the students who came before the current members.

"They set the bar high and we've been trying to maintain it ever since. Every year we start over again with high ideals and goals. As these

Lakes band to usher in holidays

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

The Lakes Area Community Band will proudly present its Christmas Concert, Dec. 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lakes Community High School Auditorium, 1600 Eagle Way (N.E. Corner of Grass Lake Rd. and Deep Lake Rd.) in Lake Villa.

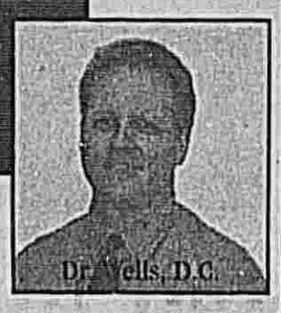

Under the direction of Steve Porch, selections will include favorites by Leroy Anderson, Sammy Nestico, Irving Berlin and others. There will also be a special appearance by members of the Lakes Area Community Chorus.

All are welcome, admission is free and refreshments will be served after the performance. Bring your friends and family for an evening of entertainment and check out the new high school. Come early for the best seating. You won't want to miss it.

The Lakes Area Community Band is made up of 40 talented musicians from Lake, McHenry and Kenosha counties. We play a wide variety of musical styles. All area musicians high school and older are welcome to join us. No auditions are necessary.

Rehearsals take place in the Antioch Community High School band room Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. Sponsorship is provided by the Festival Arts of Antioch. For more information call Debbie at 847-395-0272.

Public hearing postponed

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

The anticipated public hearing for the proposed restaurant, banquet hall and townhouses at Bowles Road and Route 59 proved to be anti-climatic last week.

The developers, Vince and Arlene Tomasello, requested that the hearing be postponed. The planning and zoning board agreed, and the public hearing has been continued to Jan. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Center, 817 Holbeck Drive, which is just north of the fire station.

As it stood, the proposal included a banquet hall and restaurant for commercial use and townhouses. The proposed piece of property is surrounded by property that is zoned single family residential.

According to the comprehensive plan of Antioch, the residential portion of the Tomasellos' plan nearly conforms. However the banquet hall and restaurant facility would need to be rezoned as commercial. The closest commercial zoning to the south is about one mile down near Grass Lake Road on Route 59. To the north, the nearest commercial zoning is 2,000 feet at Hillside Avenue

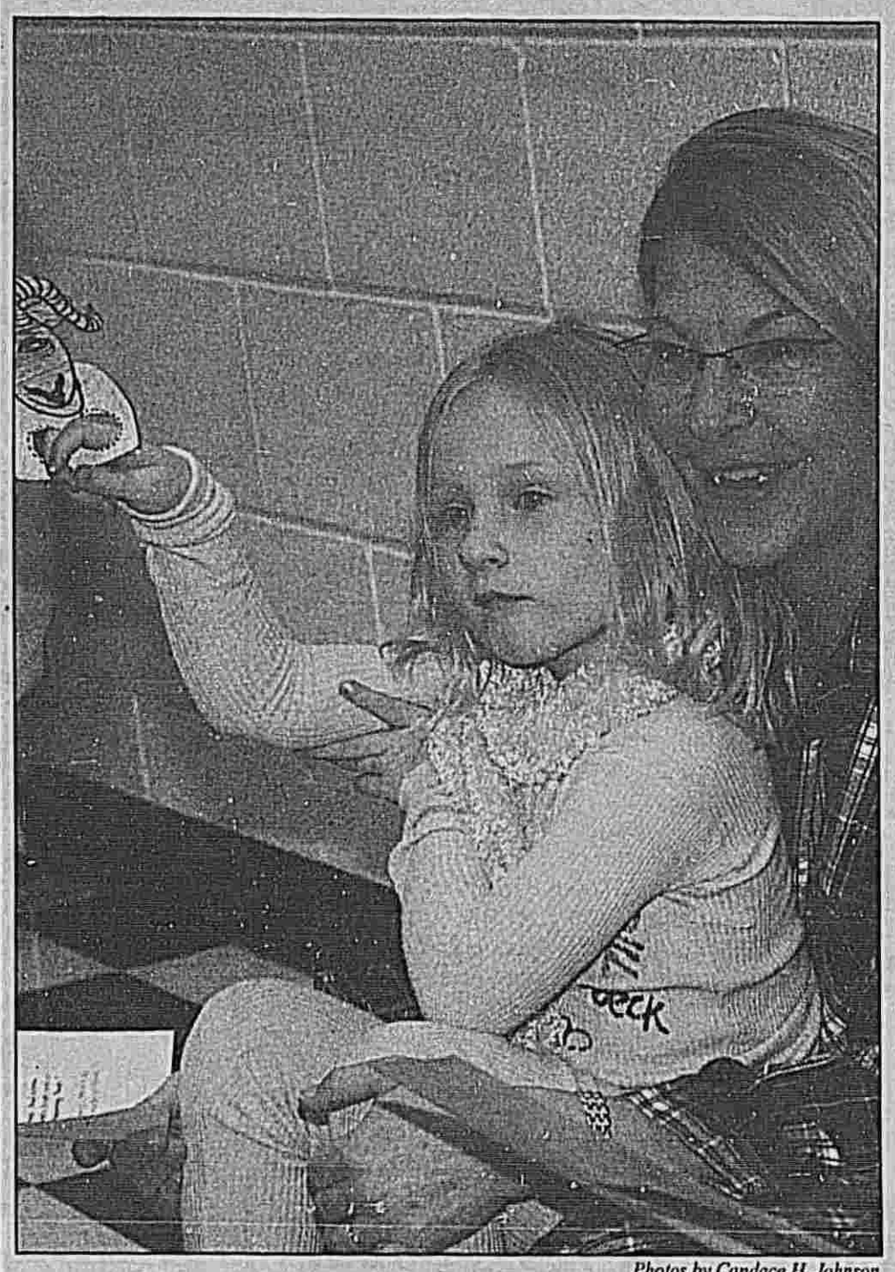

The planning and zoning board is concerned about the impact of traffic, and suggests that the petitioner obtain a traffic impact study and contact the Illinois Department of Transportation to discuss the possibility of signalization and access to the site.

Due to the impact of new residential property the park department might require an impact fee. The committee is also concerned about architectural details, engineering and tree preservation on the heavily wooded property.

Chicago attorney Robert J. Best is representing James Robellard and other Heron Harbor residents. Best suggests there will be a large turnout and a great deal of interest in how this land is developed and has asked for a two-week period to prepare a response to the presentation.

PACE to offer senior service

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

After a great deal of anticipation, Antioch, Grant and Lake Villa Townships are ready to launch the transit program for senior citizens and those who are disabled. The joint effort isn't perfect, but it is a start, Antioch Township Supervisor Steve Smouse said.

By joining forces, the three townships were able to buy a retired PACE bus with 14 seats, and the townships will share the expenses. Service will begin Nov. 22.

To make arrangements for a ride, residents need to call 847-265-RIDE (7433), and it will be scheduled on a first-come, first-serve basis. The bus will operate on Tuesdays and Thursdays with a round-trip in the morning and another in the afternoon.

Smouse: The transit system isn't perfect, but it is a start

The bus will stop at Wal-Mart in Antioch, Butera in Lake Villa and Aldi's in Fox Lake. The cost of the round-trip is $1.

Kay Starostovic, Grant Township Supervisor said she is happy the townships can offer the seniors and disabled citizens an opportunity to shop for food and basic necessities. Lake Villa Township Supervisor Dan Venturi said this opportunity provides the targeted group more independence. He hopes they will be able to expand the service in the future.

Smoke detectors credited for saving seven lives

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Department was called to a house fire at 991 Route 173 in Antioch at 12:32 a.m. Monday. Firefighters were already responding to a fire alarm at a local business when the call came in.

The first engine companies to arrive at the scene found a ranch house with a large amount of fire visible toward the back of the house. They brought a fire hose into the house that had heavy black smoke and poor visibility. Firefighters could see a television set was still on and they searched the house for occupants.

The family members had all been asleep but one person was awakened by the alarm and woke the others, according to Lt. Chris Lienhardt. Most fatal fires happen at night, Lienhardt said. Everyone in the house was able to escape without injury.

Firefighters were able to stop the fire from spreading into the living room, according to Chief Dennis Volling. Firefighters from all three Antioch fire stations responded to the fire, and neighboring departments

Damage is estimated at $200,000 and the cause of the fire is under investigation. The American Red Cross helped members of the household with their immediate needs.

AIFS Global Awareness invites area students to get involved

The American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) is inviting area students to get involved in international academics by celebrating International Education Week.

AIFS is a grass roots educational program that promotes multicultural understanding throughout the world. It is celebrating its one-year anniversary during International Education Week and is commemorating both events by launching a new Web site filled with educational stories, photos and ways for people to get involved in the world academia. The site is located at www.globalawareness.com/iew/

The Global Awareness program is dedicated to educating people about different countries, cultures, and customs through interaction, communication and experience with exchange program participants from around the world.

"The timing is perfect," said William Gertz, President and CEO of AIFS. "This is a very special week for the international education community and our Global Awareness campaign to help ensure that the mission and message of International Education Week is understood."

Through AIFS area students have many opportunities to get involved and help make an impact on the world as well. Academic Year in America (AYA), sponsored by the AIFS Foundation, facilitates exchange programs for hundreds of high school students globally. AIFS Summer Advantage enables high school students to spend their summer abroad in six exciting locations. College students are able to choose from more than 20 programs and locations and spend a semester, year or summer abroad. The Global Adventures Project (GAP) is an exciting volunteer program where students spend three to twelve months of their 'gap' year in Brazil, South Africa, India or Australia.

OUR TOWN
Ginny Skweres

Santa Claus is coming to town

For those who haven't noticed, Santa's Enchanted Castle is being spiffed up for Santa's arrival on Nov. 25. His house is on Toft Avenue between Orchard Avenue and Lake Street. The 25th will be highlighted by a parade and tree-lighting event.

Santa's Castle will be open every day for children to visit with Santa and photos available for a nominal fee.

After Nov. 25, Santa will home and ready to visit with children from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 to 4 p.m. on the weekends.

The Antioch Assembly #23 International Order of the Rainbow Girls will have a majority night at 7 p.m. Nov. 28 at the Masonic Temple, 885 Main St.

Heather Bednar is the worthy advisor for the night and she can be reached at 847-395-9580 for more information. She would especially like to have women attend who have not been at a majority night for some time. There is a lot of catching up to do.

The members of Rainbow Girls are between 11 and 20 years old. A majority night is for those who have gone beyond that age and would like to catch up with other members of he group.

The ACHS student council is asking the community to help them with a toy drive that begins Nov. 21 until Dec. 13. There will be drop off boxes in the main lobby of the school. Toys will go to those who are less fortunate.

Scott Keenan of the Open Arms Mission is still in need of sponsors for two projects at the mission. One is the Adopt-a-Family project to provide a gift for each family member. Sponsors are also needed for the holiday dinner boxes. The mission would like to find a sponsor to pay for the $25 box of food that will give a family a traditional turkey dinner for Thanksgiving and again for Christmas. Call the Open Arms Mission at 847-245-5251 for more information or to volunteer.

The board of directors and the volunteers of the Chain O' Lakes Area ArtWorks Children's Museum wants to thank you to all those who supported the event including Armanettis Wine and Liquors in Antioch and Dave and Linda Mehnert of Lake Villa who provided the wine and cheese respectively. Area merchants and business people generously donated raffle and silent auction items.

School supplies shipped

District schools have been collecting school supplies to donate to children affected by the hurricane Katrina disaster. Altogether, more than 600 backpacks stuffed with supplies were shipped to Louisiana State University. Alongside that, schools collected more than $1,500 to donate to Love Our Children USA.

DISTRICT 117

ACHS theater

A struggle between reality and imagination forms the centerpiece for this fall's drama production, Twelve Dreams by James Lapine. Danni Lee Parpan plays Emma, who makes a booklet of her disturbing dreams for her psychiatrist father, played by Zack Simonini. Meg McGrath serves as assistant director.

The production's eclectic set design features a large scrim, through which the inhabitants of Emma's private world play out her dreams. Director Dan Swartz said the students helped choose the play from several that were being considered.

Performances are Nov. 17, 18 and 19, and admission is $2 for students and $3 for the general public. Each show starts at 7:30 p.m.

ACHS support

Students in teacher Julie Elver's advisory class are sending individualized care packages to a U.S. Marine unit stationed in Baghdad, Iraq. Members of the 2nd Force Service Support Group Postal Detail will receive a dozen chocolate chip cookies each, plus other personal items they've requested. In addition, each package contains a note from a student and a group photo of the class.

Elver's brother-in-law leads the unit and coordinated the list of items requested by the troops. Things like socks, lotions, candy and snacks dominated the list, and each service member will find something he or she asked for.

plans that could satisfy Antioch's growth. However, Fanning-Howey Architects and Green Architects described the services each firm could offer but did not produce a possible building or a price. Each firm offered the district help to get a referendum passed.

At this time there is no dollar amount attached to a tax referendum, and no dollar amount or percentage was given. The two new schools would need to be a part of a ten-year plan.

"The committee did a wonderful job," Superintendent Scott Thompson said. "Now the board has to wrestle with the decisions."

The earliest a referendum could take place would be at the April elections and the district would need to be registered on the ballot by Jan. 17, according to Kitt Dunn who works with Green.

In order to pass a referendum, the board would have to be united and of the same consensus. There would be multiple levels of community input and the complete commitment of the board since there is not a lot of time to prepare, Dunn said.

"It's not good to just throw it out there and see if it flies. The first chance is the best chance and it's important to get information to the taxpayers," she said.

Another possibility would be to go for a referendum in November, which would draw a lot of voters because of the other political races, but large turnouts generally are not good for getting a referendum passed, she said.

Board president Volling said he would be comfortable with Green since they had worked together before/\.

"We realize the time crunch there is and we're scared enough

45 band members strive to meet them, the habit should not be lost in all areas of their life," Bush said.

The invitation to march in New York's St. Patrick's Day Parade began last spring. Bush received a letter that the band had been invited. "I ran down the hall to my principal," he said. However he did not bring up the possibility to the children until he had had a meeting with all of the band parents. The band parents voted unanimously to go for it, and they would work to raise the funding. The trip will cost the group about $30,000, and band members and band parents will have to finance it.

Band Parent Club president Don Chelmecki said we've had a good response from the parents and a good response from the fundraising committee," he said. Chelmecki was all in favor of it.

"It's a fantastic opportunity. "I think it will happen."

There are a number of bands in District 34, and it is the very dedicated Senior Band that was invited. AUGS also has a Junior Band and there are Cadet Bands in the middle schools. Chelmecki said he hopes this opportunity will unify all the bands and give the children a dream.

"I think on In addition to learning and polishing up their repertoire, students will begin the first event by selling candy bars this week.

One of the next efforts to raise money will be sponsored by Lakeland Media, which will advertise the band's opportunity and provide flyers. The band students will also come to the Lakeland office and use the phone system to sell subscription to the Antioch News, Lake Villa Record or the Lindenhurst News. For each subscription, Lakeland will donate $5 to the fund.

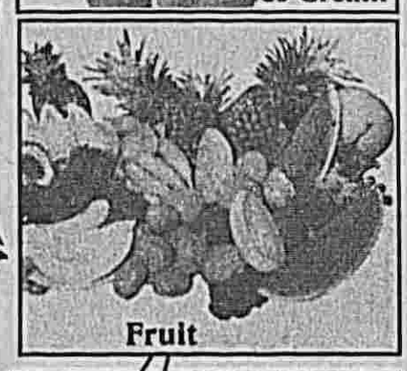

There will be other efforts to raise money as the time gets closer to the parade. Parents will be asked to pay for the balance of the expenses that are not covered.

Possession of cannabis

Joshua W. Blouch, 23, of 1257 N. Split Oak Circle, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov. 1, at 10:36 p.m., while driving a green 2000 Subaru Outback southbound on Route 83 near Route 132. His registration had expired in January 2005, and he had no insurance card. Police detected an odor of burnt cannabis in the car, and found a ball of a green leafy substance on the driver's seat. He was charged with driving without registration, driving an uninsured motor vehicle and possession of cannabis. He was served a notice to appear in branch court on Dec. 14, at 1:30 p.m.

Intoxicated pedestrian

Louis F. Szuba, 54, of 509 Rae Ave., Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov. 4, at 9:46 a.m., while walking southbound, in the southbound traffic lane on Route 83, at the Petite Lake Road bridge, impeding traffic, according to police. A breath test yielded a result of .272 BAC. He was taken to Condell Medical Center for evaluation and observation, and was served with a notice to appear in Grayslake Branch III court on Dec. 14, at 3 p.m.

Theft from motor vehicles

A 42-year-old Lake Villa woman reported that a DVD player and some disks were stolen from his 1994 Chevrolet Blazer some time between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Nov. 12. The vehicle was parked unlocked at 216 N. Milwaukee Ave. The items are valued at $320.

A 46-year-old man reported a cell phone was stolen some time between midnight on Nov. 10 and 5:01 a.m. on Nov. 11 from his unlocked 2002 Buick SUV, parked in front of his home on Northwind Lane.

LINDENHURST

Driving with a revoked license, theft

Christopher M. Inman, 19, of 10211 80th Place, Pleasant Prairie, Wis., was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 10, at 6:01 p.m., while driving a white 1995 Mitsubishi Eclipse northbound on Route 45 near Haven. He was stopped for an expired registration. Police found him in possession of cigars and cigarettes he admitted stealing from the BP station on Sand Lake Road, where he is employed. He was charged with driving with expired registration, driving with a revoked license and theft. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond pending appearance in Round Lake Beach Branch court on Dec. 7, at 10:30 a.m.

Driving with a suspended license

Nicholas D. Summers, 24, of 5 Shoshoni Trail, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 11, at 1:57 p.m., while driving a black 1991 Infinity on Grass Lake Road near Gelden Road. Police observed the driver heading northbound on Beck, with no front registration and no seat belt. He was also found to be wanted on a warrant from Lake County, and his registration was suspended for an insurance violation. He was charged with no front registration, failure to wear a seat belt, driving an uninsured motor vehicle, suspended registration, driving with a suspended license and failure to appear on a warrant. He was turned over to Lake County Jail.

Louis J. Angelini, 51, of 4867 W. Ogden, Cicero, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 12, at 5:45 p.m., while driving a blue 1997 Ford sedan on Grand Avenue near Grand Circle. He was charged with driving with a suspended license and was released on a $1,000 I-bond pending appearance in Round Lake Beach Branch court on Dec. 7, at 10:30 a.m.

No valid driver's license

Ara M. Carrera-Duran, 39, of 201 Ferndale, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 126, at 3:03 a.m., while driving on Grand Avenue near Grand Circle. He was observed driving 50 mph in a 35-mph zone. He was charged with speeding and driving with no valid driver's license. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond pending appearance in Round Lake Beach Branch court on Dec. 7, at 10:30 a.m.

DUI ARRESTS

The following people have been arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs

Steven M. Siedlecki, 22, of 42202 North First Ave., Antioch, was stopped at 10:37 p.m. on Nov. 11 near Route 173 and Tiffany Road for driving without lights on the farm tractor he was driving. Police had received a tip from another driver. Siedlecki told officers he needed to get to the Tower Room at the bowling alley. Siedlecki failed his field sobriety test and police handcuffed him to put him in the squad car.

Siedlecki resisted the officers and stiffened his body. He lunged at one of the officers and moved toward the rear of the squad car. The two officers had to carry him and put him into the back of the squad car.

He was charged with driving without taillights and headlights, having an obstructed view of the slow-moving vehicle emblem, resisting arrest and DUI. He is scheduled to appear in court on Dec. 6.

Penny A. Bublitz, 41, of 25203 108 Place, Trevor, Wis., was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 10, at 1:28 a.m., while driving a black 1991 Chevrolet Camaro northbound on Route 45 near Falling Waters. She was seen crossing the centerline. She failed field sobriety tests, and refused breath tests. Police found her license had been suspended for DUI. A personal search discovered a metal pipe with a green leafy residue. She was charged with improper lane usage, driving with a suspended license, DUI enhanced, possession of cannabis and possession of drug paraphernalia. She was turned over to Lake County Jail.

Andrew G. Peregrin, 23, of 1108 Hainesville Road, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov.13, at 1:55 a.m., while driving a blue 2003 Chevrolet Blazer westbound on Route 132 near Oak Knoll. He was observed driving 42 mph in a 30-mph zone, and crossing the centerline. He failed field sobriety tests, and refused to take a breath test. He was charged with speeding, driving with a suspended license, driving an uninsured motor vehicle, improper lane usage and DUI. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond pending appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Dec. 9, at 9 a.m.

Elizabeth E. Voss, 45, of 957 McKay, Grayslake, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 12, at 11:38 p.m., while driving a purple 1994 Ford Expedition on Route 45, south of Falling Waters Boulevard. She failed field sobriety tests, and a breath test yielded a result of .275 BAC. She was charged with failure to yield on a left turn, failure to yield to an emergency vehicle, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond pending appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Dec. 13, at 9 a.m.

Tammy M. Spiller, 46, of 23314 W. Liberty, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov. 9, at 12280 a.m., while driving a black 2003 Chevrolet southbound on Route 83 near Grass Lake Road. She failed field sobriety tests and a breath test yielded a result of .106 BAC. She was charged with blocking an intersection, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She was released pending appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Dec. 9, at 9 a.m.

LOCAL

Antioch Garden Club

The Antioch Garden Club will be decorating wreaths and swags to adorn several community buildings again this year. We decorate the senior housing, train depot, Historical Society building, and the Senior Center. This makes for a great photo opportunity to kick off the Holiday season. We will be working on the greenery on Saturday, Nov. 19 starting at 9 a.m. at the Antioch Senior Center on Holbeck.

FNBEO hosts holiday movie

On Saturday, Nov. 26, First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBEO) will be hosting a showing of the holiday movie "ELF" at the Antioch Theatre, 378 Lake Street in Antioch.

The show will begin at 10:30 a.m. and entry to the movie is free to any adult or child who brings in two or more non-perishable food items to donate to The Open Arms Food Pantry in Antioch. The free movie is held annually by FNBEO to kick off Antioch's holiday festivities.

"The movie to benefit the food pantry is an event we have been holding annually for well over ten years." said Karen Kubin, bank representative. "It's just one of the many ways we like to help stay involved in the Antioch Community and help the food pantry."

"ELF," starring Will Ferrell (ex Saturday Night Live great) is a holiday movie about an orphan named Buddy who is raised by elves at the North Pole. Though Buddy is a human boy, he is brought up to believe he is an elf. As a man, Buddy wises up and decides to embark on a trip to New York to find his true identity. This comedy also stars Bob Newhart, James Caan, and Ed Asner. This movie is rated PG.

All proceeds from the movie will go to the Open Arms Food Pantry located at 1548 Main Street in Antioch. Items on the pantry's most wanted list this year include jelly, canned fruit, spaghetti sauce, and toilet paper

For more information on the movie, The Open Arms Food Pantry, or FNBEO, please call Karen Kubin at 847-838-2265 (BANK).

ATV recovered after collision

A Johnsburg man was charged with two counts of criminal damage to state supported property and various other charges following an incident in McHenry.

Daniel P. Seaberg, driving a white Chevrolet van eastbound on Lincoln Road in McHenry, and the police were aware that he was wanted on warrants from Lake County Sheriff's Police, in connection with the attempted theft of an ATV from the Antioch area and a stolen ATV from the Wauconda area.

The McHenry County Sheriff's personnel followed the vehicle to the 3000 block of Oakwood Avenue in McHenry where they attempted to take Seaberg into custody. Seaberg resisted the officer's attempts to take him into custody, striking the police vehicles with his van. When he was unsuccessful at ramming past the officers, he was eventually taken into custody. A female passenger in the van was detained briefly and released at the scene, according to McHenry County Sheriff's press release on Nov. 7.

A search of the van which Seaberg was driving located a 2000 Honda ATV that was stolen from Wauconda area on Nov. 3.

Seaberg is charged with aggravated battery, resisting arrest, aggravated assault and aggravated fleeing and eluding.

Seaberg was assigned a $100,000 bond. The investigation by McHenry County Sheriff's personnel is continuing.

Have something to say? Put it on a shirt at Personalization Station

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

If you've ever looked high and low for something with just the right slogan, don't despair. More than likely, Marc Mallen of Personalization Station at 919 Main St. in Antioch can create exactly what you want if it's not in stock. He likes to make his customers happy.

Mallen has been in his screen-printing store for about 15 years and his merchandise has evolved with the times. In addition to creating custom screen-printed shirts for companies, teams and organizations. In the past Mallen has carried gifts and knick-knacks in addition to the customized T-shirts.

"Now we're trimming back on gifts and getting into customizing T-shirts, denim and jeans jackets and the custom coffee mugs." he said. He also specializes in photo sculpture which is mounted on acrylic and cut into a silhouette as well as photos with a three dimensional effect.

"Right now hooded sweatshirts and anything with skulls and flames is very popular," he said.

"When Wal-Mart moved in it was scary and I had to look at what I can do that they can't. So I added a few 'blue' words and innuendo to my T-shirts and try not to cross the line," he said. He keeps adding clever sayings to his stock and said he often gets ideas from customers. Sometimes they come back from a vacation and regret not buying something with a saying and ask him to reproduce it.

Sometimes they come in and say, 'I've got one for you.' Sometimes I just have an epiphany and do it all by myself, he said.

As you walk past the store, the sayings on the T-shirts seem to draw you in and it's almost impossible to not read at least a few of them. For example one reads 'Desperate housewife in training' and another is 'I see dumb people.' His storefront window declares the store is the 'County facility for incorrigible TEES.'

Mallen might add some higher quality shirts such as turtlenecks and polo shirts.

"I'll be able to sell it cheaper than anyone else," he said.

In addition to reading clever sayings, customers enjoy socializing with his gentle dogs, Mariah and Kody.

"The customers eat it up. This is such a dog-loving town," Mallen said. "In 15 years only two people were afraid."

Screen-printing is one way to transfer a design onto something, and it actually does use a screen. The design, which will transfer one specific color, is put onto screen that will allow color to be applied only where it is wanted. There is an additional screen for each color and each is applied individually. Each screen may vary in the degree of openness that determines how much paint is allowed to pass through it. With a tight weave, less color is applied to the fabric. A more open weave allows more color saturation.

Other ways to transfer words or a design to fabric is by heat transfer, a more economical method, and he said he sells those inexpensively. Some designs are transfers and some he designs himself. Soon he will be adding holiday deal of information and experience.

The students first spent time in a classroom learning about one of a firefighter's best tools, the self-contained breathing apparatus, or air pack. This allows firefighters to enter a building and still be able to breathe in spite of heavy smoke.

Following that lesson, students were suited up in the gear firefighters don in preparation to answer a call. The air packs weigh about 11 pounds, but the total weight of the gear is 60 to 70 pounds. To give them a realistic experience, the students had to climb through small spaces and under simulated beams, wearing their bulky gear, including the air pack. That proved to be no small task, especially for the taller, larger trainees.

"I loosen up all my straps, but don't unbuckle anything. Just keep it loose," Captain Jim Cook told the students whose air packs prevented them from getting through a particularly tight obstacle.

Senior Kim O'Keefe, daughter of a captain at the department, said she might not be a full-time firefighter but would consider doing it on a volunteer basis.

"It's been very educational. I've wanted to be a firefighter for a while and this helps me to get ideas," another student said.

Lt. Chris Lienhardt said the department tries to make the training as close to actual training as they can.

"We try to run them through as much as we can," Lienhardt said. "We've had quite a few come back here and that helps them and it helps us." The more certification firefighters have increases their chances to be hired full-time.

"They're doing everything we would do, but on a very condensed schedule," Leinhardt said.

While the students were crawling under and through obstacles there would occasionally be an alarm sounded.

"The alarm is on the air packs," Chief Dennis Volling said. "If they don't move for 15 to 30 seconds the alarm alerts others to a possible problem."

We have state-of-the-art masks that allows the firefighters to talk to one another in spite of the noise a aging fire can make, the chief said.

"Inside the pack there is a LED monitor to tell the firefighter how much air is left in their pack. They usually last for 30 to 45 minutes." Volling said.

As their training progressed students climbed the ladder, which can go as high as 100 feet in the air, and the culmination of their learning was a mock fire alarm and they went on a mock fire call.

Firefighter Marianne Melzer, a five-year veteran, said students are usually surprised by the weight of the gear and how much work it is.

"It helps to be in some kind of shape," she said.

Leinhardt said the one day of training also teaches them to work as a team, and their leadership skills stand out

Other career opportunities that students studied were probably not as strenuous, but these seven students probably slept more soundly than any of them.

Mundelein woman faces murder charge

Delia White held on $10 million bond for death of son's fiancee

By Rebecca Klugiewicz
Staff Reporter

A local woman is being held in the Lake County Jail on $10 million bond on a charge of first-degree murder for the slaying of her son's fiancee. This is the first murder in the village since 1992.

Delia Marie White, 55, of 555 Deepwoods Drive in Mundelein was charged with murdering her son's fiancee after she repeatedly struck the woman in the head with a blunt object during an argument, according to Deputy Chief Mike O'Brien of the Mundelein Police Department.

The victim, Audelia Bogard, 43, of 555 Deepwoods Drive, was killed in her apartment on the morning of Nov. 11. Bogard lived with her fiance and his mother in a second-story apartment. The couple moved into the Diamond Lane Condominiums less than two months ago, according to police. White moved in with the couple about a week ago, police said.

Mundelein police and fire personnel arrived on the scene following a 911 call made at 12:08 p.m. The caller stated a woman was lying in a pool of blood. The emergency workers found Bogard dead in her bedroom. Her fiancé and White were at the scene. Police said Bogard died sometime that morning following an argument with White.

Della Marie White: Charged for murder

Police originally questioned White at the scene. "She then became a person of interest Saturday morning," O'Brien said. Police brought her in for further questioning. "She made statements to investigators of the Lake County Major Crimes Task Force indicating she struck Ms. Bogard in the head several times during the argument," O'Brien said.

The charge of first-degree murder was approved Sunday morning. Police have not yet determined a motive or released information regarding the murder weapon. The Lake County Coroner's Office performed an autopsy on Bogard's body Saturday afternoon. Coroner Dr. Richard Keller said the cause of death was blunt force trauma to the head.

Police did not receive specific information from neighbors about the fight between Bogard and White. "We had people that said they heard a commotion, but they

Bull's Creek, Rasmussen Lake take center stage of watershed tour

By Regan Foster

Sean Wiedel and Tony Wolff were up to their shins in Bull Creek.

Literally.

Wiedel, a watershed planner, and Wolff, a watershed engineer with the Lake County Storm Water Management Commission recently donned waders and climbed into the Libertyville creek to take measurements that would reflect the stream's health.

With a simple ruler and a long measuring tape, Wiedel and Wolff were able to measure the creek's health — that is, in terms of width and depth.

"We collect information on the conditions so we're able to make recommendations on those conditions," Wiedel told a group of watershed conservationists and activists during a recent tour of the Upper Des Plaines River watershed.

As it turned out, the creek — which is in unincorporated Libertyville and which merges with four tributaries including Bulls' Brook — measured about six inches deep, and a handful of feet across in the area in question.

A recent study of the Bull's Creek watershed showed that only 22.5 percent of the area was impervious, or incapable of allowing rainwater to seep into the ground. That meant the watershed was right on the fringe of being unable to healthily manage influxes of water.

"When this area was subdivided (about 50 years ago), the ... (tributaries) just kind of joined in this subdivision," said Patty Warner, a watershed planner with the storm water management commission. "Were right on the cusp here, so it's important we're looking at helping along our creek bed, here."

While goals and visions for the Bull's Creek/Bull's Brook watershed are still in the works, the Lake County Forest Preserves have a grand vision for another county body of water.

Forest Preserve sites host Toys for Tots collection

Brighten the lives of many Lake County children this holiday season by bringing new, unwrapped toys to Lake County Forest Preserve Toys for Tots drop-off sites, through Dec. 16.

Sponsored by the United States Marine Corps Reserve, Toys for Tots collects and distributes new toys to needy children in Lake and McHenry counties and across the United States.

Bring your donation to any of the following Lake County Forest Preserve locations:

Greenbelt Cultural Center, located on Green Bay Road south of Belvidere Road (Route 120) near North Chicago and Waukegan. Open Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Lake County Forest Preserve General Offices, located at 2000 N. Milwaukee Ave., just north of Route 137 near Libertyville. Open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Lake County Discovery Museum, located at Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda, on route 176 west of Fairfield Road. Open Sunday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Lake County Forest Preserve planning, conservation and development office, located at 32492 N. Almond Road, just north of Casey Road, near Grayslake, open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Ryerson Visitors Center, in the Ryerson Conservation Area, on Riverwoods Road south of Route 22 near Deerfield. Open Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

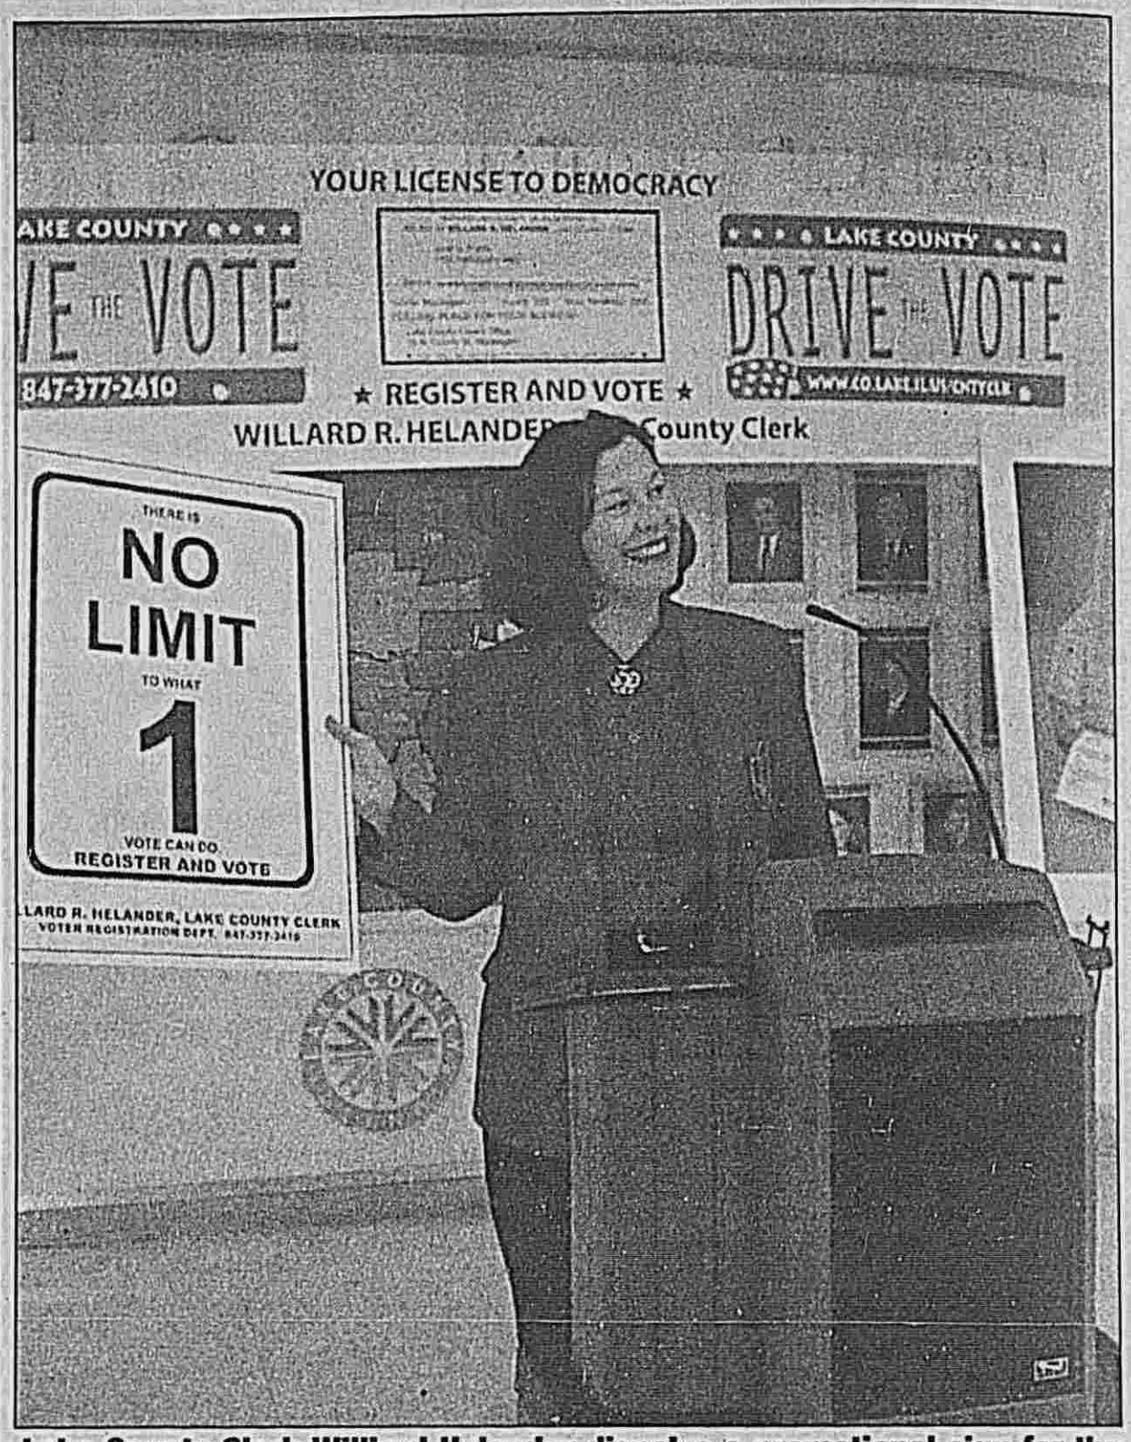

Independence Grove Forest Preserve Visitors Center, located off Buckley Road east of Milwaukee Avenue (Route 21) near Libertyville. Open daily, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., except when posted for special events. Call ahead before dropping off toys to check hours, 847-968-3499.

Toys may also be dropped in the lobby and the tenth floor of the Lake County Court and Administrative Complex located at 18 N. County Street in downtown Waukegan. For hours and directions, call 847-377-2000.

Toys for Tots is a nationwide Marine Corps Reserve program started in 1947. Local campaigns are conducted in 481 communities throughout the U.S. In 2004, the Marines and the Toys for Tots Foundation collected and distributed 19 million new toys and brought the joy of the holiday message to 7.5 million needy children throughout the nation. The 2004 campaign surpassed the previous record by more than four million toys and more than one million more children reached.

In Lake County, the Toys for Tots campaign is coordinated by the Marines of Weapons Company, Second Battaloon, 24th Marines, headquartered in Waukegan. Visit the Web site at www.ToysForTots.org. Monetary tax-deductible donations may be sending checks or money orders directly to Marine Corps Toys for Tots Foundation, PO Box 1947, Marine Corps Base, Quantico, VA 22134.

The Lake County Forest Preserve sites have been participating in Toys for Tots for more than a decade. To learn more about the Forest Preserve, call 847-968-3229.

November is Lake County Voter Registration Month

November is Voter Registration Month in Lake County. The theme, "Drive the Vote," emphasizes the importance of registering eligible citizens countywide. To kick off Voter Registration Month a press conference was held in the lobby of the Lake County Government Complex on Nov. 10 at 10 a.m.

The goal is to facilitate registration opportunities at a number of community, school and business locations over the coming month. Many municipalities and townships in the county are adopting a resolution or proclamation in support of November as Voter Registration Month, and are hosting registration activities or publicizing the opportunity to register in their facilities. Trained deputy registrars are volunteering to register neighbors and new residents in their homes, places of work or at community events.

All Lake County citizens are urged to participate, whether they have never been registered and need to accept their responsibility to be prepared to vote, or they are currently registered voters who can urge friends, family and coworkers to become registered.

couldn't tell us where that occurred," O'Brien said.

Neighbors in the apartments were curious about the police presence and anxious for information over the weekend. Donna Sparks, of 550 Deepwoods Drive, said she came home shortly after noon on the day of the crime. "When I came in, there were nine cops here," she said. She was told by police to keep her children inside. Even after the commotion died down the following day, she continued to supervise her children outside.

Sparks said police were searching in bushes and garbage bins around the neighborhood. There were also K-9 units sniffing in the bushes around the complex.

White is no stranger to the court system. According to the Livingston County circuit clerk's office, last year she was arrested in Livingston County on two charges of residential burglary and one charge of misusing a credit card. She was also arrested in the same county earlier this year on a charge of domestic battery with attempted bodily harm. White pled guilty to all of the above charges and served time in jail.

acre, man-made lake in the county's northern areas has earned the dubious distinction of being one of Lake County's most polluted lakes. Jim Anderson, the county natural resources manager, said the pollution was the result of sediment from the nearby Lindenhurst water treatment plant rolling in and getting caught on the artificial and impervious dam.

"We're getting a lot of nutrients in this lake," Anderson said. "The problem is, Mill Creek is still there, the carp keep coming in and it goes on and on and on."

To mitigate that problem, the county forest preserves plans to remove the dam and return the lake to its natural habitat. There is a catch, however, in the fact that Mill Creek continues to gurgle away on the off-side of the dam, and that water is fresh.

So, the county is accepting proposals from environmental engineering firms on how to remove the water from the lake without harming the carp and without dumping sediment into the clean water. In the long run, Anderson said he envisioned a gurgling stream and multi-habitat wetlands in the place of the massive — and bright green — lake.

"It's a good idea, now we have to find out if it's worth doing or if it's feasible," Anderson said. "It's not just the forest preserves out here saying 'We're going to take out a dam and make a stream'

"Leaving the lake as-is is not a viable solution."

NIFB and Canadian Pacific Railway partner again in the fight against hunger

The Canadian Pacific Railway will bring in the holiday season to Lake County in a grandiose way on Dec. 9.

The Northern Illinois Food Bank (NIFB), the Lake County Chamber of Commerce and the Gurnee business community is welcoming the Holiday Train. The "train of lights" will roll into town at Viking Park, 4374 Old Grand Avenue in Gurnee, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. It's an evening filled with entertainment, food and fun.

From the east side of Depot Road in Gurnee, on-lookers can watch live musical shows, enjoy a tasty treat, and learn about hunger and food assistance in northern Illinois from NIFB.

The Gurnee Chamber of Commerce, an affiliate of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, will provide free hot chocolate and coffee for all. Other refreshments will be available with a financial and/or non-perishable food donation.

"I am thrilled that once again the Holiday Train will brighten the Gurnee night with its spectacular light and great entertainment," NIFB Executive Director H. Dennis Smith said. "This special event has brought many smiles to children and adults alike over the past four years, plus the generosity of Canadian Pacific Railway and other local sponsors have provided over $40,000 to help provide food assistance to local neighbors in need."

Decked with thousands of lights and holiday yuletide, the Holiday Train not only brightens the night but also the hope for those impacted by the need for food assistance.

Although no food will be put on the train, this event provides an opportunity to raise funds and collect non-perishable food items for the food bank.

NIFB provides food assistance in 13 northern Illinois counties by acquiring donated food from retailers, manufacturers, corporations, and community resources and distributing it to hungry people through a network of non-profit food assistance agencies. This holiday season, the Food Bank will provide nearly 20,000 Holiday Meal Boxes or turkeys to families in need through its agency partners.

In what has become a holiday tradition, thousands of people bundle up and eagerly greet the CPR Holiday Train as it arrives at depots, in rail yards, next to grain elevators, over railroad grade crossings, and on a reservation all across North America raising hunger awareness and resources in the fight against hunger. Spectators watch as the luminous 13-car freight train rolls into town with the red locomotive lighted with wreaths on the front and back and a decorated lighted tree atop the cab.

Northern Illinois Food Bank is busy raising money to support the Holiday Meal Box program. A $25 donation sponsors a box that provides a nutritious traditional holiday meal for eight. Individuals, companies, churches, and community groups are encouraged to donate to the program by sending contributions of any amount to Northern Illinois Food Bank, 600 Industrial Drive, St. Charles, Ill. 60174.

For more information about donating money or volunteering, call the food bank at 630-443-6910 or visit www.northernilfoodbank.org.

Lake County Chamber of Commerce to mark 90th anniversary

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its 90th anniversary of continuous service to Lake County businesses on Dec. 1, at a reception at Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth.

The Lake County Chamber is the oldest chamber of commerce in Lake County in terms of providing continuous services to its members. The Lake County Chamber was established as an all volunteer organization, the Waukegan Commercial Association, in 1915.

In 1917, the original organization changed its name to the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce. As the organization grew and expanded over the years, the chamber underwent additional name changes to reflect its membership, including the Waukegan/North Chicago Chamber of Commerce in 1946 and the Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce in 1975.

Today, the Lake County Chamber of Commerce has grown to over 400 members and is the parent organization to three affiliate Chambers: the Gurnee, Hispanic, and Waukegan Chambers of Commerce. The parent organization strives to provide programming that will benefit a business no matter where in the county it may be located. Each affiliate chamber focuses on the businesses that make up their specific constituency.

The celebration will feature historical data, photographs and newspaper clippings from the Chamber's archives as well as the presentation of resolutions from area dignitaries and officials.

For more information about the celebration call the Lake County Chamber of Commerce at 847-249-3800.

CLC to serve as site for energy workshops

The College of Lake County is serving as a local site for "Keep Warm Illinois," a series of workshops sponsored by the State of Illinois to help Illinois households cope with expected higher utility bills this winter.

The workshops are being held at community colleges across the state. The workshops at CLC will be held at the following dates and locations on the Grayslake Campus, 19351 West Washington Street:

- Thursday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. in C132
- Saturday, Nov. 19 at 10 a.m. in C003
- Thursday, Dec. 8 at 7 pm in C003
- Tuesday, Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. in A217
- Tuesday, Jan 10 at 7 p.m. in B159
- Wednesday, Jan. 11 at 7 p.m. in B159

The workshops will provide information on do-it-yourself energy-saving strategies such as conservation and winterization. The sessions will last approximately one hour and will include written materials, a video presentation and a question and answer period led by an energy professional. The workshops are being sponsored by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity in partnership with community colleges in Illinois.

For more information, go to www.KeepWarm.Illinois.gov, a Web site that offers energy saving tips, a Web-based tool to conduct home energy audits, information on energy assistance programs and other resources. A Keep Warm Illinois hotline, 877-411-WARM, will also soon be available to help Illinois residents continue to learn how to save energy and apply for energy assistance.

Culture enhanced by small towns

Small town American always has done more than its share in advancing American culture, the music, the literature, the art that makes us who we are. Antioch is doing its part, and provides an excellent example of how a small community can commit itself to advancing the national culture.

For many years an ad hoc organization known as the Festival Arts of Antioch, has been presenting cultural and entertaining performances that enrich life and bring joy to the community. Not unique in this respect when compared to similar organizations in neighboring communities, the Festival stands apart for its endurance and high standards.

Christmas signals the beginning of the Festival's year, this year beginning the season at the new Lakes Area Community High School in Lindenhurst-Lake Villa with a performance of the Community Carolers at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5. Handel's "Mesiah" will be presented at St. Peter Church in Antioch at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18.

Later in the year, the 2005-06 schedule calls for the Community Chorus to perform Stainer's "The Crucifixion" during the Lenten season. Summer will be highlighted by concerts presented by the Lakes Area Community Band with a Boston Pops style Fourth of July Patriotic concert at the William E. Brook Entertainment Center combining band a choral music performed in an outdoor setting.

Festival Arts became a formal organization 15 years ago, growing out of the chorus now drawing on a pool of 90 voices that has been singing together for more than 30 years. Ken Smouse, "director extraordinaire" best known for leading the PM&D. Theater group, serves as Festival president. Drawing on the talents and energy of several hundred volunteers, the Festival is able to operate on a budget of $4,000 to $5,000 supplied by patrons and donations. All performances are free.

What puts the Festival Arts of Antioch in a class by itself is the level of professional entertainment being performed by local residents and talented musicians from neighboring communities who enjoy making music and making audiences happy.

Moving ahead on road work

While county-wide civic, political and business panels are pursuing long range solutions to public transportation needs, particularly mid-county highway congestion, Grayslake officials are pushing hard to enact programs that will result in more immediate action.

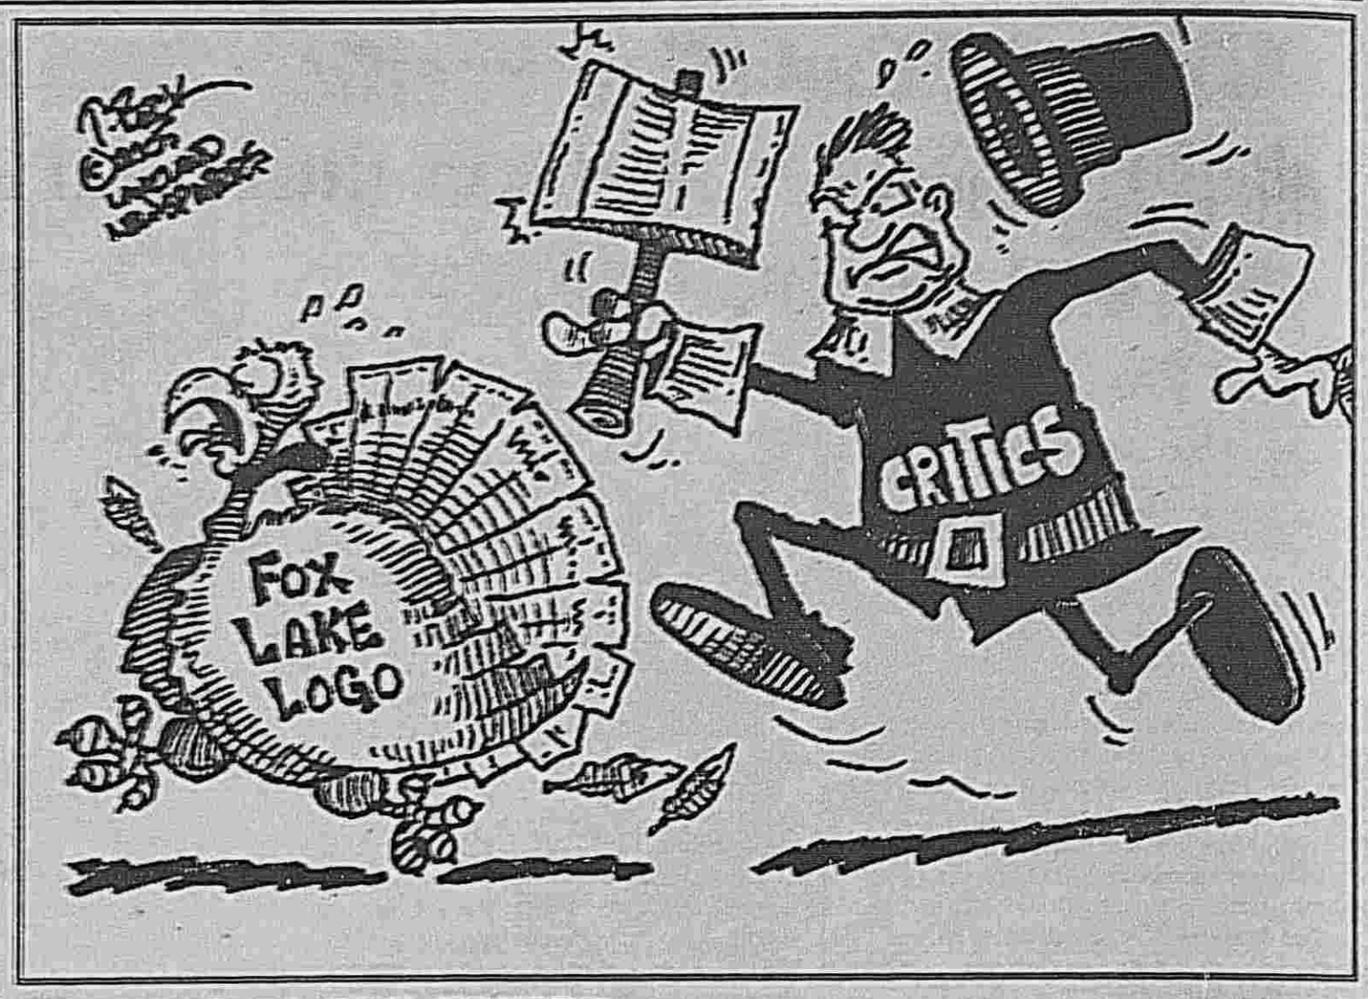

Situated in the geographic center of Lake County and criss-crossed by two railroads and several major highways, Grayslake feels the brunt of the urban sprawl that has turned once moderately used roadways into ribbons of gridlock and construction congestion.

Grayslake officials have approved funding for 2006 improvements that include signalization and turn lanes at Rte. 120 and Alleghany Rd. Mayor Tim Perry sees the improvement as providing relief for the notorious Rte. 120-83 bottleneck complicated by the Canadian Central Rail crossing. The mayor, who supports the Rte. 120 bypass program, said the intersection upgrade on the western edge will be vital to traffic flow in and around Grayslake. Rte. 120 traffic originating in west Lake County and McHenry County will be siphoned off at Alleghany Rd. that connects with Peterson Rd. that has become an east-west arterial.

Various rail crossings will be involved in the establishment of quiet zones within the village.

The completion of the new Washington St. Metra station, due in January, is an example of how Grayslake has become a transportation hub, which attracts problems not altogether of its own making. The Washington St. facility will be the third commuter rail facility serving Grayslake.

Historically, Illinois has been known as a "reactive" state when it comes to providing transportation needs. Mired in bureaucracy and burdened by campaign politics, new roads and improvements to old roads in Illinois traditionally get funded and built only after years of outcry from the public for relief. At least on a local basis, the current group of Grayslake officials is trying its best to "get ahead of the curve."

They were not in attendance as Mr. Hovaney projected a negative cash flow to the Big Hollow School operating budget (Education Fund), i.e., for every new student from this development the school would lose money.

Where were the "doctors" in March 2004 as Big Hollow School presented their case for higher, sustainable Impact Fees to the Volo Village Board? Big Hollow presented calculations showing the Impact Fees proposed for this same Remington housing development would provide less than 20 percent of the monies needed to house these new students (Building Fund).

Do these self-proclaimed experts of school funding understand that the recently released Lake County Impact Fee model corroborates Big Hollow's position? It clearly shows schools are seriously unfunded by the new housing developments like the ones approved by Volo, Lakemoor and Round Lake.

Before we implement a prescription for the present school issues we must clearly understand the problem. There is a cancer slowly consuming our schools. Often part of the disease is the easy to digest ideological position-no tax increase. The truth is often a harder, more complex diagnosis.

No-wake stupidity

If county Board Rep. Bonnie Carter can railroad no-wake on Wooster Lake, she can collude with others to implement this stupidity on any lake in [redacted] County, including Long Lake, Round Lake, Bang [redacted], Deep Lake, Third Lake, Gages Lake, Diamond Lake, Sand Lake, Crooked Lake, you name it. She's proven she's willing to misrepresent the facts, use only partial truths, fabricate, cheat taxpayers of their property rights, and do it all without even first giving these tax payers the chance to voice their side of the story.

When will politicians' lying and railroading stop? Are the Round Lake officials big enough to step up and simply admit they made a mistake by allowing themselves to be manipulated by Carter's misleadings? Or will politicians' misinformation just continue to pile up?

Lake compromise

What is really getting to me about this No Wake "thing" that Round Lake started is that this ordinance they have passed is like "taxation without representation." No one in the Holiday Park subdivision, ((which is part of Fox Lake not Round Lake) was asked for their input, vote, whatever, about this. Holiday Park residents own approximately 25 percent with the Village of Fox Lake governing approximately 40 percent of the lake bottom. Tanneron represent a mere 9 percent and with Round Lake only holding 3 percent of the lake rights, what gives them the right to tell the rest of us what we can or cannot do on the lake?

No one wants to see the lake damaged, or overused. One of the main reasons I moved there was because of the lake and the beach.

Holiday Park residents are willing to compromise, what about Round Lake and Tanneron Bay?

Chain O' Lakes Thanks

Having boated on the Chain of Lakes for many years, and lived on Fox Lake for almost six years, I've enjoyed the many amenities this unique body of water affords. However, from time to time, some strange things and unfortunate events occur. But over the last few years, the number of such incidents has diminished and a major reason, I believe, is due to the increased number and diligence of the Chain's water patrols. On behalf of all boaters who enjoy the wonderful recreational opportunities the Chain provides, I would like to offer a special thank you this Holiday season to the men and women who provide their time and energy patrolling the Chain to make it a clean and safe environment for all to enjoy.

Acknowledgment/Thanks

The passion of a few residents (three or less) running high speed personal watercraft, is greater than the Iraq war. Polarization caused by this issue has gutted the Wooster Lake Conservation and Control Association. Most bottom owners are opposed to the current WLCCA leaders. They changed the voting and boating rules to disenfranchise bottom owners and packed the voting class with Holiday Park homeowners (60 percent of the total eligible to vote) who don't own any "bottom" and shall have no lake rights until Cambridge Homes turns over the property.

The excellent leadership of Lake County Commissioner Bonnie Carter Thomson continues with the upcoming community meeting on the Fox Lake ordinance proposal.

The hoped for outcome of all the meetings, letters and petition efforts is passage by Fox Lake of the same "no wake" ordinance recently enacted by Mayor Gentes of Round Lake.

Drill in Alaska

We need to increase our domestic oil production and lesson our reliance on dangerous foreign sources. Energy conservation alone doesn't solve our energy needs; it just postpones it for a short while. Drilling in ANWR would help since it would be the largest oil field discovered in the world in the last 40 years.

What's being proposed is to open only a small fraction, only 8 percent of ANWR, for exploration. And all exploration areas are not drilled in. Technologies like horizontal drilling, 3-D seismic mapping and ice roads minimize the drilling footprint to only 2,000 acres out of the 19 million acres of ANWR, or one 10,000th of 1 percent! This region is a treeless arctic desert with almost no wildlife during its nine-month winters. Oil and gas development has successfully coexisted with wildlife in Alaska's arctic for over 30 years. The Central Arctic Caribou herd at Prudhoe Bay has grown from 3,000 in 1970 to 27,000 today – 900 percent increase. The population of Grizzly bears and Polar bears has increased. Oil development has endangered no species.

SEEING IT THROUGH

Forest Preserve land purchase through bonded program

As I write this column, the Lake County Forest Preserve District prepares to vote today, Nov. 18, on a $45 million dollar bond extension program for land acquisition and development projects. It will be the first phase of an $85 million dollar extension, the additional $40 million to be later approved for either 2007 or 2008. All indications are that this will "sail through." For many reasons, the District got it right this time.

The debate on the issue may be on whether most of the money allocated in the program should be spent for land acquisition or a significant amount should be spent on trails and other improvements at existing properties. I would hope that a very major portion of the monies will be used for land acquisition. The public support for land acquisition is overwhelming.

I'm sure that the taxpayers understand why picking up land as quickly as possible should be the highest priority. Land values have tripled in the past six or so years, and we can expect more land price increases in the near future. So, the longer we wait, the more we pay. Even those who say that they expect access improvements now ought to understand the importance and priority of purchasing land first.

Although the District's survey of whether there was public support for a tax referendum showed that over 50 percent supported a tax increase, the District made a wise choice in not going that route. It should come as no surprise there would be support in a survey for the forest preserves, as they are so widely used and supported by the public.

In spite of that telephone support in a survey on a tax increase, there is just as wide opposition against tax increases of any kind. Just ask those people who sought a tax increase to fund paramedic needs in Beach Park or those who again lost a ballot proposal for schools in Winthrop Harbor. The public mood for any tax increase is sour, and most of the forest district commissioners sense that. They know that anti-tax voters are like "sharks who swim under the surface, but are quick to come up and bite your head off."

Also, the District is still smarting over the furor that developed with the pricey "re-do" of the Fort Sheridan Golf Course. That rage has softened since the early bids were so high and were rejected but the issue would surely resurface if the District went to a tax referendum.

I have often opposed bond issues; for example, when the state of Illinois went overboard on the Build Illinois and Illinois First bond programs. Those were humongous projects, many of the pork barrel variety. Such bond issues only postpone the inevitable, passing on greater costs to the taxpayers for many years.

The District's plan for extending the bonds for acquisition is much different and can be interpreted as a savings when you consider that other bonds will be paid off. Also, the District will find this plan to be cost-effective because it will be able to purchase lands at less costly rates than waiting for years. The bottom line is that present and future taxpayers will be guaranteed the quality of their lives and share the costs of that benefit.

It was encouraging to find that when the District held a public hearing on its bonding plan, the support was overwhelming. It was especially encouraging to find that, among the supporters who testified was representation from a residential development association.

For years, here in Lake County, it was difficult to find any realtor group that was sympathetic to the open lands purchasing goals of the Lake County Forest Preserve District. I tried, often unsuccessfully, to tell some realtors that when it is done responsibly, forest preserves can dramatically improve land values in the area.

I believe that Lake County ranks second in all of Illinois in the amount of open space forest preserve acreage. We can thank the pioneers who fought many battles to establish the District.

PARTYLINES

THIS COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS

Garret calls Kirk promise 'hot air'

State Rep. Mark Kirk (R-Highland Park) misstated the amount of aid North Chicago schools will receive at a community meeting last Tuesday. To an audience of about 400 people, he said the school district is guaranteed $7 million regardless of how many students from military families attend classes. In fact, the schools are guaranteed $6,100 per student. The number of students that meet the requirement is not yet known.

State Sen. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) criticized Kirk's claim both at the meeting and again after verifying from the U.S. Department of Education that the amount Kirk referenced is incorrect.

"This $7 million promise was really hot air," she said.

Kessler commends MPD

At Mundelein's village board meeting on Monday night, Mayor Ken Kessler commended the village police for the speedy solution of the homicide case in which a woman was killed in her Mundelein apartment.

The victim's fiance's mother, Delia White, is in jail on $10 million bond. He said the incident illustrates that membership to the Lake County Major Crimes Task Force is vital. Police Chief Ray Rose said he would pass the information along.

Oberweis headquarters

Jim Oberweis, Republican candidate for Governor, announced recently that his Lake County Headquarters would open on Nov. 20.

Built in 1856 by farmer Robert Strang, the structure located at 19000 West Grass Lake Road in historic Millburn is the oldest two story brick building still standing in Lake County.

This landmark will serve as the Oberweis for Governor Lake County Headquarters. The general public is welcome and invited to join candidate Oberweis, Oberweis for Governor, Lake County Coordinator Judy Martini, and other honored guests for the opening ceremonies of the headquarters on Nov. 20 from 3 to 6 p.m.

Oberweis for Governor Lake County Coordinator Judy Martini stated she was, "Very excited to have been selected as the Lake County coordinator for such a fine candidate for Governor.

"The strong and historic foundation of this building, which will serve as our headquarters is representative of the Oberweis campaign as it is deeply rooted in true Illinois values," Martini said. "It is also especially fitting that the headquarters location has been called the 'Millburn Strangler' as its location is known as one of the worst bottle necks in all of Lake County.

"It is my hope that as the citizens travel into, and by, the historic building at 19000 West Grass Lake Road in Millburn, they will see that as governor, Jim Oberweis will give back to Lake County, our fair share of motor fuel tax funds so as to fix our roads and work to elevate frustration for all Lake County commuters. All I ask is that you look at what the current administration has taken from Lake County, and look towards the candidate who will give back to Lake County. "

Ditka to host dinner

District 16 Lake County Board member Bob Powers (R-Round Lake Beach) said he will be attending a dinner for David McSweeney who is running for the U.S. Congressional Eighth District Republican nomination.

The dinner is being hosted by former Chicago Bear great Mike Ditka and takes place on Dec. 6 at 6 p.m. at the Lakemoor Banquet hall. "I like Dave because he keeps on working and he is true to his word," Powers said.

Link , Kirk honor veterans

Congressman Mark Kirk (R-Highland Park) and Senator Terry Link (D-Waukegan) attended the parade and dedication ceremony of the new Veterans Memorial Plaza at Waukegan's Washington Park on Veterans Day.

The new park includes a Patriots Wall with the names of all Waukegan residents who have been killed in combat, beginning with the Civil War and leading to the present day.

Kirk was the keynote speaker and, as he ended his speech, he called Waukegan resident Paul Eagon and his wife, Elaine, onto the stage.

Eagon, a WWII veteran, had recently contacted his Waukegan office, saying he believed he was entitled to four medals for his service during the war, which he had never received.

Kirk informed Eagon and the crowd that he had done some research and found that this wasn't true.

Kessler: Praise for police shows importance of Task Force

Oberweis: Historic touch signals opening of headquarters

Eagon was actually entitled to eight medals, six of which Kirk had brought to the ceremony to bestow upon him.

In the ceremony's closing remarks, Link said it was important that Nov. 11 was not the only time when people thought of American Veterans.

"We cannot think of the privileges and the honors that they gave us just one day a year," he said. "We cannot forget the sacrifices that they gave us and the ultimate sacrifice that the people on that wall gave us for our lives to be here today. I want everybody to remember veterans 365 days a year."

Chief tribute

Fox Lake and Spring Grove officials seem to be working well together on common matters.

Spring Grove leaders, including Mayor Tom Sanders, came out to support Fox Lake Police Chief Ed Gerretsen Jr., who had the police facility dedicated in his honor last week. State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) had a resolution in his honor read in Springfield. Lake County Circuit Court Judge Ray McKoski, Lake County Board members Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Ingleside) and Judy Martini (R-Antioch) were on hand, as well as law enforcement officials and past Fox Lake elected officials. Gerretsen has served Fox Lake for 33 years as a police officer and chief.

Birthday wishes

Island Lake Village Board members found something that they could all agree on. They wished resident Evelyn Prichett well. Prichett is 90 years young.

Help on the way for chilly house

Now that you've figured out some nifty ways to save on your gasoline bills (you have, haven't you?), it's time to turn to conserving energy on home heating costs. Not a moment to spare.

First of all, don't waste time reading all those fancy home magazines. They'll tell you how to make your home more beautiful, but you'll look far and wide for ideas on cutting home heating costs. I was disillusioned to learn that among the biggest culprits for heat loss are those gorgeous picture windows (even with triple pane glass) and recessed can lights that add so much to mood and appearance. A report on home heating conservation said that from three to 10 cubic feet per minute of air will pass through a can light.

My favorite sources for ideas to winterize the home are handy-man's manuals and farm and agricultural cooperative magazines.

The modern home, expertly constructed and built to specifications, provides a clinic for air filtration loss. As one expert stated, "Anywhere an ant can get in, air can get in."

So, do-it-yourselfers have their work cut out. The good news is that a lot of winterizing can be done by the individual homeowner. Your best friends are caulk (also your second and third best friends) and insulating foam. Weather stripping isn't pretty, but it works. So does "poor man's" storm windows. Plastic sheeting. A broken window can result in untold air loss. During a bitter cold snap, pulling the shades or drawing drapes creates an instant air trap with insulation qualities.

Seldom thought of is how much cold air infiltration is involved in electrical outlets. Insulated foam gaskets and childproof plug inserts pay for themselves in a hurry.

Proper insulation is a must. No amount of gadgetry or sweat equity can replace the value of proper insulation when it comes to saving on heating costs. Ditto for an old or undersized furnace. I just became acquainted with energy audits including a blower door test which are conducted by a heating and air conditioning professional. The test reveals air leaks you can't see. But they're there and they cost you money.

For qualifying low income families, the federal government operates something called the Weatherization Assistance Program.

Now if you're still shivering, fix a hot drink and pull on a heavy sweater.

Shady practice

Lake County Recorder of Deeds Mary Ellen Vander Venter is hot on the trail of a Northbrook-based con-man who is peddling a service to obtain certified copies of home deeds for $75 plus $4.50 mailing charges that her office will provide for $1 per page. The average deed is four pages. Vander Venter said Barry Joel respresents himself as president of Illinois Deed Providers Incorporated that provides the shady service. The recorder is asking anyone with questions about obtaining a deed to contact her office at 847-377-2575.

Preserving history

Despite a few showers that made moving machinery slippery going on grass, the 13th annual Farm Heritage Festival showing historic farm machinery was a ringing success. Held at Lakewood Forest Preserve, officers and members of the Lake County Farm Heritage Assn. extended appreciation to families attending and those who participated in the annual farm machinery and articles auction. Terry Abbott is president of the organization that is a key part of the movement in Lake County to preserve and recognize our agricultural heritage.

Gurnee Chamber hosting identity theft seminar

The Gurnee Chamber of Commerce will host a Lunch and Learn Seminar on Identity Theft on Nov. 29, from 11:30 am to 1:30 p.m., at Outback Steakhouse, 5652 Northridge Drive in Gurnee.

The luncheon is open to both existing and prospective members of the Gurnee Chamber and the Lake County Chamber of Commerce and its other affiliate Chambers.

The luncheon will feature a presentation on identity theft and how this can affect both businesses and individuals.

Brian Moy, branch manager of Fifth Third Bank's Hutchins Road location, Commander Jim Caldwell of the Gurnee Police Department, and a representative from Experian Credit Bureau will be presenting.

In addition to the seminar, the luncheon is an opportunity for businesses to learn what the Gurnee and the Lake County Chambers of Commerce have to offer. Prospective members will learn first hand how joining the Chamber can benefit their business as they take advantage of this opportunity to network with other local businesspeople and business owners.

The cost for the luncheon is $10 and includes the luncheon, networking, and seminar. For more information or to register for the event, call the chamber office at 847-249-3800 or visit www.lakecountychamber.com/events.asp.

Chamber honors Zengeler Cleaners as 'Business of the Year'

Historic Chamber recognizes contributions of historic local business

Zengeler Cleaners, a family-owned company doing business in Illinois for more than 148 years, was honored as "Business of the Year" by the Deerfield-Bannockburn-Riverwoods (DBR) Chamber of Commerce. The award was bestowed on Zengeler Cleaners as part of the Chamber's annual dinner meeting.

Zengeler Cleaners earned the 2005 award based on its extensive community involvement. The historic dry cleaners contribute thousands of dollars and countless hours in support of social services, youth programs, women's shelters and various faith-based organizations.

In particular, the DBR Chamber of Commerce pointed to Zengeler Cleaners long-running support for the Glass Slipper Project, a not-for-profit organization created to help high school women experience prom, as an example of the company's commitment to the community.

Tom Zengeler, president of Illinois' largest dry cleaner, acknowledged several factors that influence the company's community support.

"Our family has always believed that successful companies have a responsibility to share their good fortune with the local community," said Zengeler. "I would like to thank my grandfather for teaching me the importance of giving back – and my father for showing my how it should be done. I would also like to thank the residents and other businesses that support our company because that supports allows us to give back to the community."

The Annual Meeting was the 80th for the long-standing DBR Chamber Commerce, which was founded in 1925. The Chamber is organized to advance the general welfare, economic development and diversity of Deerfield, Bannockburn and Riverwoods, so that their citizens and all area of the business community prosper.

Companies considered for Business of the Year must operate in the best interest of the DBR communities and must also have been members of the DBR Chamber of Commerce for at least two years.

For more information about community involvement at Zengeler Cleaners, contact Tom Zengeler, President, at 847-272-6550, ext.14 or log onto the company's new Web site located at www.zengelercleaners.com. For more information about the DBR Chamber of Commerce, log onto their website at www.dbrchamber.com. Zengeler Cleaners has stores in Deerfield, Hubbard Woods, Northbrook, Northfield, Winnetka and two stores in Libertyville.

CCCU welcomes Michael Mikkelson as new vice-president of technology

Consumers Cooperative Credit Union (CCCU) recently introduced Michael Mikkelson as the credit union's new Vice President of Technology. Mr. Mikkelson's appointment comes just as CCCU gears up to convert to a new data processing system in April 2006. In addition to his extensive background in information technology, Mikkelson also has experience with two previous conversions.

"There are many new and exciting changes in Consumers Cooperative Credit Union's future, and the new data processor is just the beginning," noted Sean Rathjen, CCCU President. "Our new computer and data processing system will greatly enhance the service we can provide our members. We are confident that Mike is the right person to lead us through these changes and we look forward to great things under his leadership in 2006 and beyond."

Michael Mikkelson is a graduate of University of Wisconsin, Madison and currently resides in Paddock Lake, Wisconsin. Prior to joining CCCU's team, Mikkelson most recently worked at Mazuma Credit Union, Missouri where he was director of information systems.

The data processor conversion at CCCU is scheduled for the end of April 2006. In addition to his responsibilities during the conversion, Mikkelson's new position also includes overseeing the Information Systems department at CCCU and the delivery of quality information processing services to credit union employees and the many Members it serves.

Peter 'Pete' Michael Kukla I

Peter Michael Kukla I

Age 53, a resident of Antioch, Illinois for over 25 years, and former Fox Lake and West Lake County resident all his life, died on Wednesday, Nov. 9, 2005 at his home following a heroic battle with cancer.

He graduated from Shady Lane Grade School and Grant Community High School, Class of 1970 where he was a member of the wrestling team his freshman year. Peter enjoyed boating with his family on the Chain O' Lakes, was an avid Bears and Cubs fan, and loved his family and visiting with his friends up north, especially his dear friend, Doyle Wedge.

He served his plumbing apprenticeship in Waukegan and had worked for the Plumbers Union Local 93 out of Volo (formerly of Waukegan) for 35 years. He was initiated into Plumbers Local Union 93 on July 1973 and completed a four year Apprenticeship Training Program regulated by the U.S. Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, administered by Plumbers Local Union 93. He worked throughout Lake and McHenry Counties during the course of his 33 year career in the plumbing industry.

He is survived by his sons: Peter Michael "Mikey" Kukla II of Lakemoor; Andrew "Andy" (Kris) Harrington Kukla of Ingleside; his loving soul-mate whom he shared his life with: Suzi Szczepaniak of Antioch; his brother: Joseph (Nanci) Kukla of Richmond, his sisters: Terri (Klaus) Malenke of Camarillo, Calif; and Kristine (Charles "Chuck") Pratt of Tierra Verde, Flai his nieces and nephews: Rachel Pratt of Tierra Verde, Flai Heather Malenke of Camarillo, Calif; Jeffrey and Joey Kukla, both of Richmond; his aunts: Donna Clark of Mayville, Wis.; and Helen Rittner of Land O' Lakes, Flai and his many, many friends, especially his longtime friends, Anne Conroyd of Fox Lake and her sister: Michele Kisten of Lake Villa. He is preceded in death by his parents: Theodore "Nick" Kukla on Sept. 5, 1994 and Edith "Edie" M. (nee Baldwin) Kukla on Nov. 18, 1998; and by his uncle, Jack Baldwin and his grandmother: Marti Baldwin.

Visitations was held Nov. 11, from 5 to 9 p.m. at K. K. Hamsher Funeral Home in Fox Lake (The chapel on the lake). A funeral service was held Nov. 12 at 10 a.m. at the funeral home. Burial followed at Grant Cemetery in Ingleside. Memorials for American Cancer Society, and or the American Lung Association.

Robert D. Hunsinger

Age 45, a resident of Round Lake for most of his life passed away Thursday Nov. 10, 2005 at Northwestern Hospital in Chicago. He was born in Chicago to Henry and the late Robbie Hunsinger. Robert was a member of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, where he served as a deacon.

Robert is survived by his wife of 20 years Sharon; his children Maggie and Matthew; his father, Henry D. Hunsinger; his brothers; his brothers-in-law; sisters-in-law; his mother and father-in-law; many nieces and nephews, and many friends. He is preceded in death by his mother, Robbie Hunsinger and his grandparents.

A funeral service was held on Nov. 14, at 11 a.m. at Calvary Presbyterian Church, in Round Lake. Friends of the family visited on Nov. 13, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. at Strang Funeral Chapel and Crematorium in Grayslake.

Delbert Russell Hass

Age 72, Del passed away peacefully, Sunday, Nov. 6 after suffering a brain aneurism five days earlier. He was born in Grayslake, alongside his twin brother, Dale. Both were gifted athletes. When he was a senior at Grayslake High School, Del ran on the 4x4 relay team, which won the Illinois state championship in 1951. It was in high school, where he also met his sweetheart, Jean Johnson. They married in 1955 right after Del enlisted in the Navy. He spent many months aboard a Navy minesweeper, clearing sea-lanes for battleships in the Atlantic and Pacific. Del remained in the Navy Reserve. Del and Jean divorced. In 2000, he married Urani Hernandez.

His survivors include his wife, Urani Hass of Tigard, Ore.; stepchildren, Jonathan and Jennifer Hernandez of Portland, Ore.; former wife, Jean Hass of Portland, Ore.; son, Mark Hass of Portland, Ore.; daughter, Terri Rise of Tigard, Ore.; brother, Dale Hass of Tigard, Ore.; sisters, Evelyn Meyer of Mesa, Ariz. and Alita Hass-Holcombe of Corvallis, Ore.; and his granddaughters.

Memorial services were held at Beaverton Foursquare Church, Nov. 14 at 11 a.m. An interment with full military honors was held at Willamette National cemetery at 3 p.m. on the same day. Memorial contributions may be made to American Red Cross.

Charles 'Charlie' A. Steinbauer

Age 56, a resident of Round Lake Beach, died Saturday, Nov. 12, 2005 at the Condell Memorial Hospital in Libertyville. He was born on March 6, 1949 in Waukegan, to Carl and Luella (nee Newcomb) Steinbauer and was united in marriage to Candy Krantz on May 7, 1970 at St. Peter's Church in Antioch. He had been a former longtime employee with Bockman Printing in Bellwood, and retired as pre-press supervisor after seven years, with Lake County Press in Waukegan. He enjoyed collecting trains, photography, movies and spending time on the computer, and with his family and friends.

Survivors include his wife, Candy (nee Krantz) of Round Lake Beach; his sister, Phyllis (Robert) Adams of Lexington, Ky.; his nieces and nephews, Denise (Lauren) Meyer of Bollingbrook, Doreen (Arthur) Phillips of Round Lake Beach, Thomas Combs of Antioch, Fred (Sheila) Heuer Jr. of McHenry, Richard Steiskal Jr. of Madison, Wis., Joshua (Mary) St. John of Burlington, Wis., Christine (Douglas) Hurt of Sturgis, Mich. Aunts and uncles, cousins, great nieces, great nephews, as well as other relatives also survive. He is preceded in death by his parents, and by a brother, Phillip Steinbauer.

Visitation was held on Thursday, Nov. 17 from 5-9 p.m. at the K. K. Hamsher Funeral Home, 12 N. Pistakee Lake Rd., Fox Lake (The Chapel on the Lake). Funeral service was conducted at 10 a.m., Friday, Nov. 18 at the funeral home with the Rev. Lisle Kauffman officiating to which were invited to attend. Interment was private.

ALOOKBACK

Lake County history from the Lakeland Archives

Lakeland Archives

Edward Storey, 5, found the perfect place to spend some free time during the 1995 holiday break. Children are now counting down the days until July '01 Saint Nicholas arrives from the North Pole while parents hurry about cooking and shopping during this holiday season.

30 YEARS AGO • 1975

Gurnee officials, Oakwood Subdivision residents and representatives from the Marriott development firm discussed proposed plans for a picnic area that was slated to be within the confines of Marriott's Great America Theme Park, which was slated to open in May of 1976.

Several residents expressed concerns over the plans, which called for about 17 acres to be set aside between the Oakwood area and the employee-emergency access off of Route 21 on the west side with only 2.38 acres actually being used for the picnic area.

20 YEARS AGO • 1985

Development of the Country Squire Village area, also known as Tiffany Village, was expected to begin. Robert Creel, who was the general manager for the project, reported at the Nov. 18 Grayslake village board meeting.

The board gave approval to rezoning changes for a portion of the business area proposed for the corner of Routes 120 and 45 to fit in with the plans for the area. The change was from shopping center to general business.

The first part of the project scheduled for development was a planned unit development apartment complex off of Sear Boulevard, with access off Route 120. The general business area was slated to front on Route 120.

10 YEARS AGO • 1995

Millburn student enrollment was expected to triple by 2000, according to a study by the Lake County Planning Zoning and Environmental Quality that zeroed in on existing and potential developments.

"What we see for the District 24 is a one-two punch," Tim Angell, who studied the district for the county, said. "The first punch is before the year 2000 and the second one after the year 2000."

Angell estimated the district would have a student enrollment of 1,221 by the 2000-01 school year. That was an increase of about 800 students from the current 417.

The immediate forecast concerned board members. The district was expected to have 117 new students in an already cramped school building for the following year. There were no additional classrooms.

SWALCO Holds FINAL Household Chemical Waste Collection

The Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO) will hold the FINAL 2005 Household Chemical Waste (HCW) collection from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., on Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Metra train station parking lot (205 N. Archer Avenue) in Mundelein

A variety of common household materials can be brought to a HCW collection day, including:

Oil-based paints, paint remover, used motor oil, anti-freeze, old gasoline, metal polishes, furniture stripper, hobby chemicals, solvents, pool chemicals, driveway sealer, lawn/garden chemicals, fungicides, insecticides, household cleaners, household batteries, asbestos, fluorescent bulbs, old medication, aerosol products, mercury (including thermometers and thermostats).

Latex paint will not be accepted at any of the collections. Other products not accepted include business, institutional and commercial wastes, explosives (such as fireworks and ammunition), propane tanks, farm wastes, smoke detectors and fire extinguishers, electronics and medical wastes. Tires and lead acid batteries (auto and boat batteries) are also not accepted at these collections. These items can be recycled at any retail outlet that sells them.

To help residents dispose of Latex point, SWALCO provides bags of crushed corn cobs at various locations around Lake County. Crushed corn cobs are very absorbent, and can dry out a can of paint in as little as 30 minutes. After equal parts of paint and crushed corn cobs are mixed together and allowed to dry, the cans of paint can be disposed of with the rest of the resident's trash.

HCW collections are for state residents only, but residents do not have to live in the community where the collection takes place in order to participate. HCW collections will resume next spring. Residents can call the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County at 847- 336-9340 or check the agency's website (www.swalco.org) for further information about additional HCW collections and the availability of crushed corn cobs for Latex paint disposal.

'How to Work With Active Children' Workshop

"How to Work With Active Children" will be offered by the University of Illinois Extension in collaboration with the YWCA of Lake County Child Care Resource and Referral and Penn State Cooperative Extension.' Participants will learn about the current thinking of child development specialists regarding very active children. Concerns about hyperactivity versus typical levels of activity in young children will be discussed. Also, strategies for helping very active children fit into child care programs and elsewhere will be addressed.

Child care providers and interested parents are invited to attend the workshop scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 29 from 6:30 to 8:30 pm at the University of Illinois Extension, 100 South Highway 45 in Grayslake.

Betty Lou Barsley-Marra, Extension Family Life Educator, will facilitate the session locally. According to Barsley-Marra, "Adults should expect young children to be active - and some children are more active than others. At the workshop we will share innovative and practical ideas on ways to meet the needs of very active children."

The workshop is part of the "Better Kid Care" series designed for childcare providers in family/group homes- centers and interested parents. Future topics include "Avoid Behavior Problems - Teach Self Control" on Jan. 31, 2006; "Hot Topics for Directors," on May 23; "Parent: Friends or Foes?" on June 13 and "How to Get Parents on Your Team, Sept. 12 , The cost is $7 per session or $30 for the series and is payable to the YWCA of Lake County. All sessions will meet at the University of Illinois Extension from 6:30 to 8:30 pm.

For more information on the program call Lorena Rodriguez 847-662-7680 at the YWCA of Lake County Child Care Resource & Referral or the University of Illinois Extension at 847-223-8627.

A philosophy for all

By Daniel J. Patrick

Karate, Tai Kwon Do, Jujitsu – they're all names that many of Americans might have considered gibberish decades ago. Now, they're synonymous with an entire way of life that goes well beyond what any action movie or television program can ever show.

According to the Web site USA Dojo.com, eastern martial arts first seeped into American culture in the mid to late 19th century as Chinese immigrants brought it to America with them. But it wasn't until the 1940's that it truly took hold of American culture after American servicemen came into contact with Japanese masters during World War II.

History lessons aside, the question many ask themselves is what can be found in the martial arts? According to area instructors John Roberts, John Lee and Bruce Sims, it's much more than belts, kicks and anything you've seen before.

Roberts, owner of the Traditional Martial Arts Academy in Round Lake Heights, said that most of his students take something far more profound than the ability to fight. According to the martial arts master, the students take home a newfound drive within their lives.

"What people usually take away from my class is more self-confidence in themselves," Roberts said. "A lot of the people taking it are interested in the self-defense or the exercise, but if they stay with it, it becomes more about rounding themselves out as people."

According to Roberts, what people do wearing the uniform is only one small part of what he teaches. What many marshal arts instructors want to teach is simply for their students to live their lives

Nathaniel Standish, 8, of Gurnee and three-time national champion Cory Levin, also 8, of Mundelein compete in a Judo tournament at the College of Lake County in Grayslake.

Everybody's not just Kung Fu fighting

The martial arts were here long before Daniel-san ever waxed any of Mr. Miagi's cars as Jujitsu evolved more than 2,500 years ago and numerous other forms also have their roots in ancient history. Despite the film genre's best attempts to teach the violent nature of Karate, Tae Kwon Do, Judo and other forms, the martial arts actually find their roots within Confucianism, a religion that holds benevolence, honesty and trustworthiness in the highest order. As such, many martial arts classes instill respect and a directive to use violence only as a last resort as their first lessons. Tai Chi Chuan, a group of movements that more people will find in a spa than a dojo today began as a ceremonial form of the martial arts.

While it may not be Neo throwing around 50 agents in the Matrix, there are the grisly sides as well. Striking martial arts such as boxing and karate focus on unarmed attacks relying mostly on hand-based attacks. Kicking forms such as Tae Kwon Do live up to their name while grappling forms such as Jujitsu, Judo and Aikido focus on close-quarter combat and the usage of pressure points to incapacitate victims.

These forms of unarmed martial arts have their purposes in everyday life as well. Today's police officers are often taught joints locks and pressure point attacks to keep control of criminals during arrest while Tai Chi is often taught as a way to find relaxation in a hectic modern world.

Then there's the weaponry. Ninjas may be relegated to radioactive waste-infused turtles and video games in our culture, but they are actually highly-trained students of Ninjitsu. The goes for Samurai, as it's not just Tom Cruise getting in a suit either. Samurai were peacekeepers of the feudal Japanese society for centuries and were highly skilled with swords, daggers and other weapons.

On The Sidelines

Daniel J. Patrick • Sports Editor

Time flies when you're having fun

While I was covering a girls basketball game the other day, I realized something that was so obvious, yet so profound—I was covering a girls basketball game. As ridiculous of a statement as that is, it seems strange to me that the winter sports season is already upon us

The weather certainly hasn't helped with my confusion with 80-degree weather one day and icy cold 35-degree weather the next. Yet as I write with the sound of droplets of freezing rain hitting the roof in the background, I realize the winter season has indeed snuck up on me.

Despite the change, there are still things I have to do in the fall. One such mission is to recognize some All-Conference athletes within the Lakeland coverage area. For the North Suburban Conference, Antioch, Grant Libertyville, Mundelein, Warren and Wauconda High Schools all had representatives. In volleyball, senior Sequoit Erin Moncelle was joined by junior teammate Maggie Lonergan on the All-NSC team. Unfortunately, the Grant Bulldogs were only able to garner one selection, but that only amplifies the magnitude of junior outside hitter Kari Hill's achievement.

Libertyville setter Allison Bailey most likely gained her recognition through feeding Amanda Lugge great sets while Wauconda had a similar duo in Jenna Howard and Maggie Iverson. Mundelein had a pair of setters represent the Mustangs on the team, but for the Blue Devils, it was an all-hitter show with seniors Michelle Carlisle, Brianna Erickson and Laura Vielbig.

All-NSC Honorable Mentions included Tracy Heitman of Antioch, Kathy Szczesniak of Lakes, Siena Baldi of Libertyville, Kelli Boich of Mundelein, Brittany Kucia of Round Lake, Jessica Wheeler of Warren and Kristina Shafer of Wauconda. In the East Suburban Catholic Conference, Carmel only had one representative in senior outside hitter Colette LeClaire.

The girls volleyball scene wasn't the only thing that kept fall in my head long past its due as boys soccer was also very exciting this year. Antioch's boys soccer contingent included Billy Budd, in a positive manner.

PHILOSOPHY

"The children have to do their homework and be good people and that's the 50 percent you do outside of the school," Roberts said. "We give them a chore sheet...and their parents check off what they do during the week. What you do outside is just as important as what you do while you're in the dojo."

John Lee, of Lee's Tae Kwon Do & Hap Ki Do in Gurnee said there is a plethora of things people can take away from such classes other than simply being able to defend themselves in a fight.

'What people usually take away from my class is more self-confidence in themselves.'

John Roberts
Area martial arts instructor

"People take it like a multivitamin: some people want to learn self-defense, some need the exercise and some have trouble taking risks and they just need some confidence in their lives," Lee said. "Learning the martial arts can cure all of these things. It does different things for different people, but if you put in the time and effort, it can do good things for everyone."

It's the "putting in the time and effort" part that is difficult for most people. According to Sims, only about 10-percent of students graduate to the first degree black belt rank.

"You won't find most of that in they like the idea of a uniform, when you find out that you have to work and the ones that can't do it peter out," Sims said. "I start out at CLC with the maximum of 20 students, but by the end of the semester, it's usually at something like eight students. You have to work and you're going to be challenged and I don't think people truly realize that when they come in."

However, if the effort's there, Sims said the dividends can be wonderful for the students.

"If they really devote themselves, there's a whole cornucopia of good things that can happen," Sims said. "There's people that come in who are barely open their mouths and after a while, they have confidence...Others use it to conquer personal demons because some people have a bad temper they can't control and after some training, they say 'I can still feel like I've got a temper, but now I can get my hand around that temper and control it."

As odd as it may seem, restraint is actually championed in most martial arts circles. While he's glad to teach people how to make their bodies into weapons, Roberts added that simply walking away from a fight is also a part of the martial arts.

"What's nice about the Korean style is that they have tenets: courtesy, integrity, perseverance, self-control and indomitable will," Roberts said. "When you think about the pledges, they just teach that we should have no animosity and we're not to judge by religions, colors or speeches. If we can promote these tenets and if we can live the other side of the life like we do here, everything will be balanced out in the rest of our lives."

These tenets are held in the highest order amongst martial artists and all three of the masters believe that regardless of race, religion or creed, the art of fighting can help you not only find physical strength, but inner strength as well.

"In my personal opinion, it doesn't matter what (discipline) you're taking," Lee said. "But it makes a difference what master you take. You never want somebody who's just macho and must beat up everyone. The master must have more common sense. I want my students to enjoy working...I believe that martial arts are good for everybody, if they can follow direction, it will be very good for them, no matter where they are from."

SIDELINES

Alex Mayer, Alex McKenzie, Brett McKenzie, Jason Moxley and Darren Nordstrom. Grant was represented by Ian Hunter and Zach Williams while Matt Reimer was Lakes High's lone representative. The Round Lake Panthers had two All-NSC players in Francisco Cuevas and Joey Diaz.

Sean Ireland, John Linden, Timmy Linden, and Tom Lynn were the Libertyville Wildcats named to the list while Matt Crowley, Greg Domanico and Bill Doyle represented Mundelein on the list. Warren and Wauconda boasted the biggest All-Conference rosters. Blue Devils Bryan Bappert, Anthony Colaizzi, Taylor Holop, Ricky Kinka, Garrett Koncan, Ian Sarachan and Luke Schweitzer represented Warren with pride. Wauconda seniors Oscar Barradas and Tyler Stellwag guided underclassmen Mike Pate, Mike White and Eugene Nagawicki to success in 2005.

Carmel was also heavily featured in the East Suburban Catholic with Kevin Cook, Joseph Holguin, Ryan O'Malley, John Riggio and Sean Stefanski named to the All-ESCC team.

All-Conference honors, for some it's just the beginning and for others, it's the culmination of all the hard work they've invested in perfecting their craft for the high school varsity level. Congratulations to all of these young athletes and I truly hope this won't be the last time I mention their names.

Grant athletes sign letters of intent

By Steve Peterson
Sports Reporter

'It's (the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign) a good choice for him (Jim Kennedy). They have a great engineering program and that is what he's interested in. He will be going to a big-time college program.'
Ryan Geist
Grant wrestling coach

It was a good week to be a Grant Bulldog, one that had an early start at his or her talent. First, it was Jim Kennedy signing a national letter of intent to attend the University of Illinois and wrestle. Then, senior Ashley Arff penned the similar forms to attend Spartensburg University in South Carolina, a Division II school.

Kennedy has always been a big-time wrestler for Grant. After all, he earned the school its first wrestling state champion in 40 years when he won the 103-pound title as a sophomore.

Next fall, the big-time Bulldog will be in the Big Ten. He has verbally agreed to attend the University of Illinois on a scholarship. With family members present, the senior made it official last week, signing a National Letter of Intent.

"It's a good choice for him. They have a great engineering program and that is what he's interested in. He will be going to a big-time college program. He already knows some of their recruits due to summer wrestling camps," said coach Ryan Geist.

Geist expects Kennedy to compete at 125 his freshman year in college. More importantly, the recruiting choices are over, so now Kennedy can focus in on getting back to state his senior year. Last year, Kennedy won 82 straight matches before a semi-final loss at the state finals last year.

Grant Community High School senior Jimmy Kennedy signs his national letter of intent to wrestle at the University of Illinois as his father, Jim Kennedy, and wrestling head coach Ryan Geist look on.

"He'll be able to focus on wrestling and school," Geist said.

Arff followed Kennedy's lead as the senior basketball player is now readying for a big finish for the Bulldogs. Arff decided on the South Carolina school, located between Charlotte, North Carolina and Clenson, after one visit. Brett Phillips is a rookie coach there but knew of Arff through contacts in the Midwest.

"I played about 100 basketball games this summer," Arff said. Arff played in the Total Package program that also included Warren's Sarah Boothe. Her journey with the squad took her to Washington D.C. and Atlanta tournaments.

"I'm excited. I think this will be our best team. We get along so well," Arff said.

Arff played volleyball, basketball and ran track for Grant, and will compete this spring in the distance races. She was all-NSC for basketball last year, averaging 11 points and about 7 rebounds per game.

Her dad Roy said that Ashley was always athletic as she has gained recognition in all three sports. Several Division II and some Division I schools showed interest in Arff, who is 5-foot, 11-inches. She has worked on her outside shot, too, and continues to be a determined player. She said Head Coach Tom Oeffling has had the most influence on her.

Lake County well represented at state swim meet

By Daniel J. Patrick
Sports Editor

After months of waking up at obscene hours to take a dip in the pool, a large number of Lake County swimmers will get their time of glory at the Illinois High School Association's State Girls Swimming and Diving Finals this Friday.

The Libertyville Wildcats were the highest finishers within the Lakeland Media coverage area as they took home at third place finish at the Lake Forest Girls Swimming Sectional last weekend. Barrington won the sectional with 298 points, Lake Forest finished second with 282.5 Libertyville followed in third place with 222, Mundelein took fourth with a score of 174.5 and Warren scored 128 to round out the top five finishers.

In the 200-yard medley relay, Libertyville's relay team will be advancing with a 1:51.15 time and the Mundelein Mustangs will join the Wildcats in state competition with a 1:52.56 time. The 400-yard freestyle relay was a similar story with Barrington and Lake Forest taking the top two spots while the Wildcats took third with a time of 3:37.15.

In the 200-yard freestyle, Libertyville's Katie Mroz (1:53.79) and Mundelein's Megan Thompson (1:57.07) finished second and fourth, respectively. In the 200-yard individual medley, Wildcats Kelsie Neubauer won with a time of 2:09.64 while teammate Dana Davidsen will join her at state with a 2:12.77 time.

A large contingent of area athletes will be going down to state to compete in the diving competition. Mundelein's Nikki Spillone had the best score from the Lakeland coverage area, scoring a 422.70 to take second pace while Libertyville's Casey Herman took third with a 420.35 score. Libertyville's Tania Lyerly (384.50) finished fifth and Mundelein's Courtney Wilhelm (375.60) finished in sixth place.

In the 100-yard butterfly, Libertyville freshman Emily Ott (1:00.02) finished in fifth place and Warren's Caitlin Mattingly (1:00.20) took sixth. Libertyville ruled in the 500-yard freestyle, taking the top two spots with Katie Mroz winning with a time of 5:07.72 while Kelsie Neubauer took second with a 5:11.61 time.

Dana Davidson was Libertyville's lone representative in the 100-yard breaststroke, taking fourth in the competition with a 1:08.30 time.

GRIDIRON GREATNESS

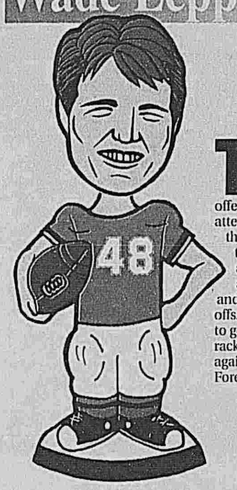

What a year it has been for Lake County football teams. While no one could recapture the state championship magic that Carmel and Libertyville had the past two seasons, there was still excellence in the trenches and Lakeland Media wants to recognize the best of the best with everyone's favorite sports souvenir – the bobblehead.

OFFENSE

Wade Leppert

Mundelein
Senior Fullback

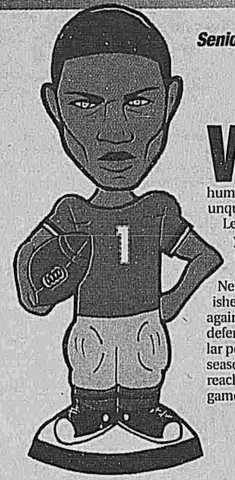

The fullback position in football typically acts as the lineman of the backfield – slaving away by laying down big hits to clear paths for the offense while the running back gets all the attention. Mustang Wade Leppert broke that mold in a big way, ranking amongst the area's best, finishing with 915 yards and six touchdowns despite playing in a limited roll during the season finale and his team not qualifying for the playoffs. What set Leppert apart was his ability to go off on individual opponents as he racked up 230 yards and two touchdowns against Wauconda, 220 yards against Lake Forest and 146 yards against Buffalo Grove.

Marcus Lewis

Warren
Senior Wide Receiver

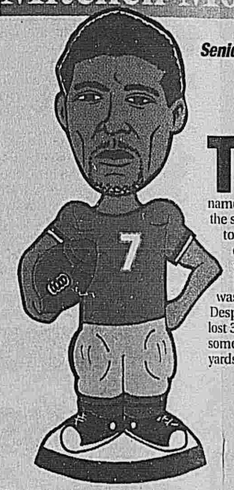

While Blue Devil partner-in-crime Mitchell Moore got it done on the ground, Marcus Lewis was there to further humilate opponent defenses with unquestioned talent as a wide receiver. Lewis finished off the season with 798 yards and nine touchdowns on 39 catches, good for 20.5 yards per catch and 79.8 reception yards per game. Never one to be intimidated, Lewis finished with 99 yards and two touchdowns against the high-powered Maine South defense in the playoffs and put up a similar performance against Stevenson in the season finale, finishing with 93 yards, reaching the endzone three times in that game.

Mitchell Moore

Warren
Senior Running Back

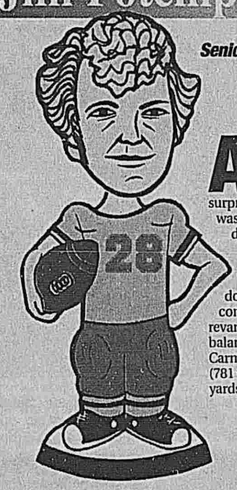

There was a reason why Warren consistently stood atop the area football ranks and finished the season at 9-2 – he stands about six feet tall and his name is Mitchell Moore. Moore finished the season with 1,314 rushing yards and 21 touchdowns and proved to be an extremely resilient back, averaging 8.0 yards per carry. What's more impressive than his rushing ability was the yards Moore lost, or lack thereof. Despite running the ball 165 times, he only lost 39 rushing yards on the season. For some high school backs, that's as many yards that can be lost in a single game.

Jim Potempa

Carmel
Senior Running Back

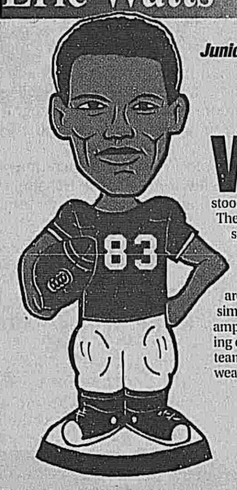

After finishing off the 2004 Campaign with 1,203 yards and 14 touchdowns in his junior year, Jim Potempa had lost his weapon of surprise in 2005 as every Corsair opponent was gunning for him. Despite opposing defender's best efforts, Potempa still impressed, putting up 972 yards and 12 touchdowns on 148 carries. The Carmel veteran's numbers may be down from last season, but the shortcoming was largely the result of a revamped offense that featured a more balanced attack as he shared the bulk of Carmel's rushing duties with John Brennan (781 yards, 6 TD's) and Sean Lees (574 yards, 10 TD's).

Eric Watts

Round Lake
Junior Wide Receiver

While the 2005 Round Lake Panthers football team was only able to take home one victory all season, wide receiver Eric Watts stood as a beacon of hope for the future. The 6-foot-3-inch junior finished the season with 35 catches for 538 yards and eight touchdowns, placing him amongst the area's elite in reception yards and touchdowns. While there are a select number of area receivers with similar numbers, Watts's totals are only amplified by the fact that he was often facing double and triple team coverage for a team that did not have many offensive weapons.

DEFENSE

Joe Barczak

Grant
Senior Safety

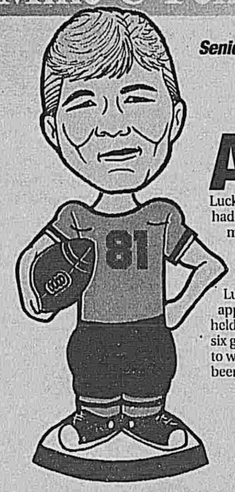

Being the coach's son can be a truly difficult thing. Not only are you held to a higher standard of excellence because of your football pedigree, coaches feel the need to ride you harder in order to dispel any thoughts of playing favorites. Bulldog Joe Barczak reveled in the pressure, finishing the season with 72 tackles and 28 solo stops in 2005. Barczak also had a nose for the ball, recovering three interceptions and one fumble for the season. Thanks largely to a tough Bulldog defense with Barczak at its centerpiece, Grant was able to make an appearance in the IHSA state tournament.

Mike C-Fehling

Libertyville
Senior Defensive End

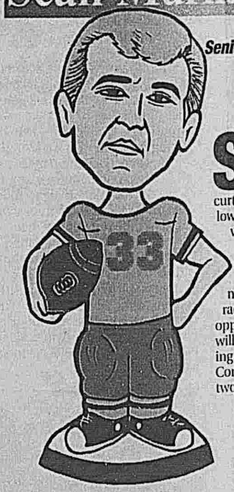

After the core of Libertyville's 2004 state championship team graduated last season, everyone knew it would be a rebuilding year. Luckily, Widcat coach Randy Kuceyeski had a major piece of construction equipment in senior Mike Culberson-Fehling. The senior defensive specialist was one of only two returning starters from the championship season. Luckily for Wildcat fans, he did not disappoint as the Libertyville defensive unit held opponents to single-digit scoring in six games. Football fans should also be able to watch Fehling at the next level as he has been heavily recruited all season long.

Sean Murnane

Carmel
Senior Defensive End

Sean Murnane isn't just a veteran on the Corsair football team, he's also a veteran on the All-Lakeland Area Football Team. Murnane takes his curtain call as a First Teamer as he followed up an impressive junior season with a 76 tackles, five sacks and even racked up an interception for his troubles in 2005. Not only was Murnane able to just stop opponents, he erased their yardage numbers, racking up 10 tackles for loss, costing opponents 4.5 yards a tackle. Andy Bitto will have a tough job on his hands replacing him as the senior was a big part of a Corsair defense that held opponents to two touchdowns or less four times.

Dennis F-Walsh

Waukegan
Senior Linebacker

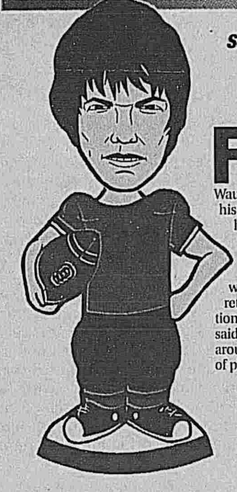

After losing talented defensive players Dennis Landry, Joe Leccessi and Demetruis Butler last season, to say the Bulldog "D" was depleted would have been a massive understatement. Luckily, senior Dennis Walsh picked up right where his forebears left off and arose as one of the area's best defensive players. Waukegan coach Pat Jennings often compared the 6-foot-3-inch player to current NFL defensive end Reggie Hayward and Jennings should know as he coached Hayward at the high school level. Walsh may not have the NFL in his future, but he certainly has Waukegan football excellence in his past, starting each of the past two seasons.

Chris Westfall

Grayslake
Senior Linebacker

For once, the word "Bulldog" will be coming up on a Lakeland Media sports page and it will have nothing to do with Grant, Wauconda or Waukegan. Chris "Bulldog" Westfall showed his bite to all Ram opponents throughout his varsity career as he finished with 100 tackles in his junior season and came up with similar numbers in 2005. Grayslake Central Coach Mike Munda was always one to play up the lone returning All Fox Valley Conference selection. "'Bulldog' is phenomenal," Munda said. "He works his tail off and he's always around the ball. I wish I had a whole team of players like him."

Antioch
Coach: Don Zeman (6th season)
04-05 Record: 7-21 (1-9 NSC Lake)

The injury bug is a devastating thing in the world of sports and it's just bitten the Antioch Sequoits. Returning varsity junior Kyle Sisler suffered a torn ACL, ending her season before it began and opening up a gaping hole in Antioch's starting roster.

The loss certainly hurts the team, but coach Don Zeman hopes he still has enough weapons intact to make a run for the top of the North Suburban Conference Prairie Division. Zeman's placing his bets on a tough core of seniors consisting of guards Holly Roberts, Ashley Fain and Megan McCarty along with Angie Axton and Jamie Pontikes down low.

New to the team from the sophomore ranks are junior guards Lexi Florian, Brenae Moechoe, Meryl Weber, swingman Tabitha Barnes and forward Ashley Hartman.

Zeman believes his team could do much better than the .250 winning percentage they had last year as much of the team invested their summers in improving their respective games for this season.

"They made quite a commitment over the summer, getting up for practice at 5:30 a.m.," Zeman said.

Getting up early isn't the only thing that's fueling optimism for Zeman and his squad as the team's perceived lack of recognition struck a chord with the players.

"They put in all the work during the summer and those five seniors are ready to go. We're going to ride those seniors as far as they will let themselves go," Zeman said. "These five seniors didn't get much recognition for their accomplishments last season, so they're out to prove something to everyone."

What excites Zeman's team the most about the upcoming season is the Sequoits' move from the Lake Division to the Prairie Division. According to Zeman, his teams have had success against Prairie opponents in the past and he thinks this team can continue the trend.

Carmel
Coach: John Ryan (7th season)
04-05 Record: 26-6 (7-2 East Suburban Catholic)

"Rebuilding" looks like it will be a major word in Corsair coach John Ryan's vocabulary this season after graduating a talented core of players including All-ESCC players Teresa Ogrinc and the incomparable Jenny Eckhart, who will be suiting up for Syracuse University as a freshman this season. Eckhart finished her career as the school's all-time leading scorer with 1,838 career points.

Ogrinc and Eckhart graduated with three other players, leaving Ryan with only returners Heather Ryan, Krista Sheehy and Sarah Waddelow as the lone veterans with significant varsity experience.

The Class of 2005 will be replaced with a large contingent of newcomers including juniors Sara Brennan, Erin Heatherman, Katie Herdman, Alex Lehman, Angela Pitzo and Caitlin Trevillyan. Sophomores Erin Glogovsky, Caitlin Hendricks and Aubrey Simmons will also be joining the team along with freshmen Genny Arnold, Tiffany Hendrickson, Jenna Korte and Kelcey Traynoff.

Judging by the team's season opener against North Chicago, Ryan could have another crop of Jenny Eckharts on his hands in the freshman class as Traynoff led with 10 points while Arnold followed with six points.

Grant
Coach: Tom Oeffling (7th season)
04-05 Record: 22-8 (10-0 NSC Prairie)

If Grant's season opener can be used as any indication, it could be another good year for the Bulldogs as Grant's team indoctrinated the Lakes Eagles into varsity play with an 87-13 beatdown thanks in large part to veterans Ashley Arff (17 points) and Trista Munster (16). However, what should inspire Grant fans and strike fear into their opponents is that a new weapon in sophomore guard Heather Ruetsche who scored 17 points of her own.

The big Lakes win should not be an isolated incident with Grant losing only two players to graduation with Arff, Munster, Lauren Liles, Becka Gonyo, Kyle Baird, Sonja Cellucci and Shelly Peterson all returning to the lineup after getting minutes last season. Arff is the team's leading scorer, averaging 11 points and five rebounds, capturing her All-Conference honors last season. Munster was also named to the All-NSC Prairie list last season.

Reinforcements have also arrived for the Bulldogs with Kariann Hill, Corrie Mitchell, Nikki Staton, Heather Sutherland, Jamie Swanson, Bailey Wagner and Ruetsche appearing on the scene. Ruetsche has already shown she can change the face of a game with scoring after her impressive performance in the first game.

Grayslake Central
Coach: Steve Schreiner (1st season)
04-05 Record: 7-22 (5-4 Fox Valley)

Hopefully first year coach Steve Schreiner can erase the bad taste left in Ram fans' collective mouth after the departure of former Grayslake Central coach Mike Hirsch. Hirsch, who guided the Rams to a 30-4 state championship berth in 2004, was let go after three seasons as head coach due to allegations of abuse from players.

Schreiner hopes to recapture some of Hirsch's winning ways without the scandals and he hopes to do it with the likes of returning seniors Kelsey Reese and Ashleigh Swearingen along with juniors Colleen Centella, Kara Ming, Lauren Trentadue and Kelly Washington. Ming was the team's most prolific scorer, averaging just over 15 points per game for the Rams, earning her All-Fox Valley Conference honors last season.

Newcomers to the team include senior Kendall Dohm, juniors Amy Beck, Lydia Coddens, Vuki Mandich and sophomore Erin Claxton.

Lakes
Coach: Eric Vichnick (1st season)
04-05 Record: n/a
(team will compete in the NSC Prairie)

New school, new team, new coach, new players, same old task – win on the basketball floor. That might be a difficult task in Lakes High's inaugural girls basketball campaign as the Eagles started off the season on the wrong foot, losing 87-13 to Grant in the season opener.

Despite the setback, Vichnick is building a team out of juniors Katie Whitehurst, Kathleen Gliva and Chaz Stipetic. Whitehurst, Gliva and Stipetic will have the important task of leading a team that has only three upperclassmen in its 11-person roster. The sophomore class will be the best represented on the roster as Nicki Folinazzo, Jackie Hagen, Nora Kenney, Mandy Schellinger and Kimmy Smith will represent the new school while freshmen Stephanie Fisher and Jillian O'Malley make up the freshman class.

Libertyville
Coach: Amy Holtsford (4th season)
04-05 Record: 10-18 (3-7 NSC Lake)

Difficult losses were the name of the game for the Libertyville Wildcats last season with multiple games decided in the final minutes of play. Hopefully, Libertyville will be able to break this mold this season despite losing four key players to graduation.

Unlike many teams around the area, the senior class isn't well represented on the girls squad with swingmen Brenna Bohl, Kelli Goodwin and guard Molly Kent returning to the roster. What the team does have is a multitude of juniors including forwards Kaitlin Banduch and Kali Feiersel and guard Mimi Savatic all played significant minutes last season.

The junior class has only been strengthened with the arrival of newcomers Casey Curschman, Ally Yarc, Kim Bruett, M.T. Lee, Shaina Swanson and Kaitlin Banduch from the sophomore ranks. Unlike many teams in the area, Holtsford has left underclassmen off of the varsity roster, at least in the early going, opting to allow them to get their stripes amongst the freshman and sophomore levels.

Round Lake
Coach: Gary Edge (20th season)
04-05 Record: 1-28 (0-10 NSC Prairie)

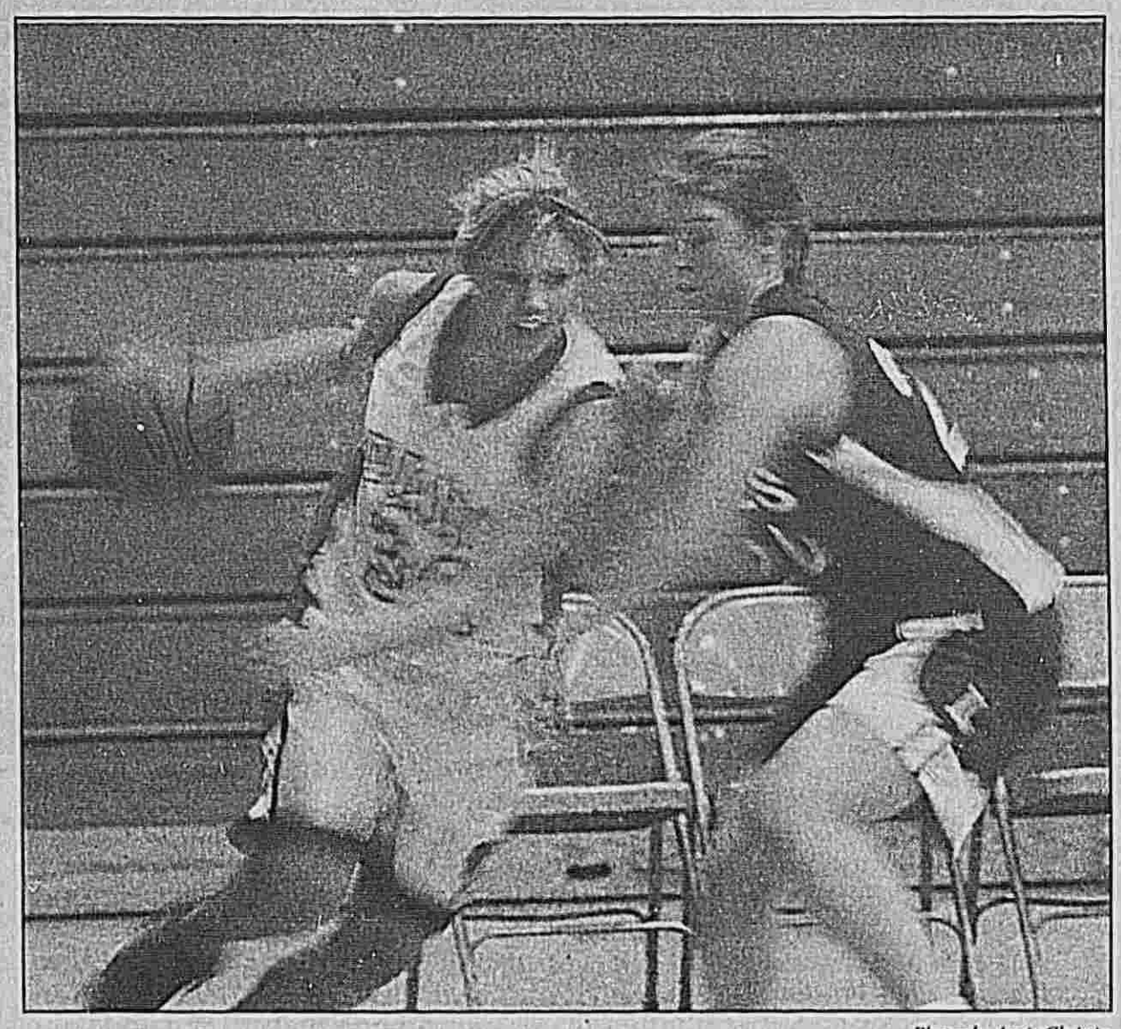

After only capturing one win all season long last year, Round Lake coach Gary Edge thinks he has a team that can turn around the Panther girls basketball program. How is Edge planning to do it? The answer's simple – running circles around opponents.

"We're much more athletic and physically, we can do more things," Edge said. "The potential for a good team is there. I don't know about wins and losses, but there is some talent at the younger levels."

Edge's Panthers might have the physical tools to make a nice run this season, but what they're lacking is experience. Only seniors Sandrea Smith, Vanessa Shook and Danielle Baczynski along with juniors Amanda Scrivner and Stephanie Morse along with sophomore Brittany Kucia played significant minutes last season.

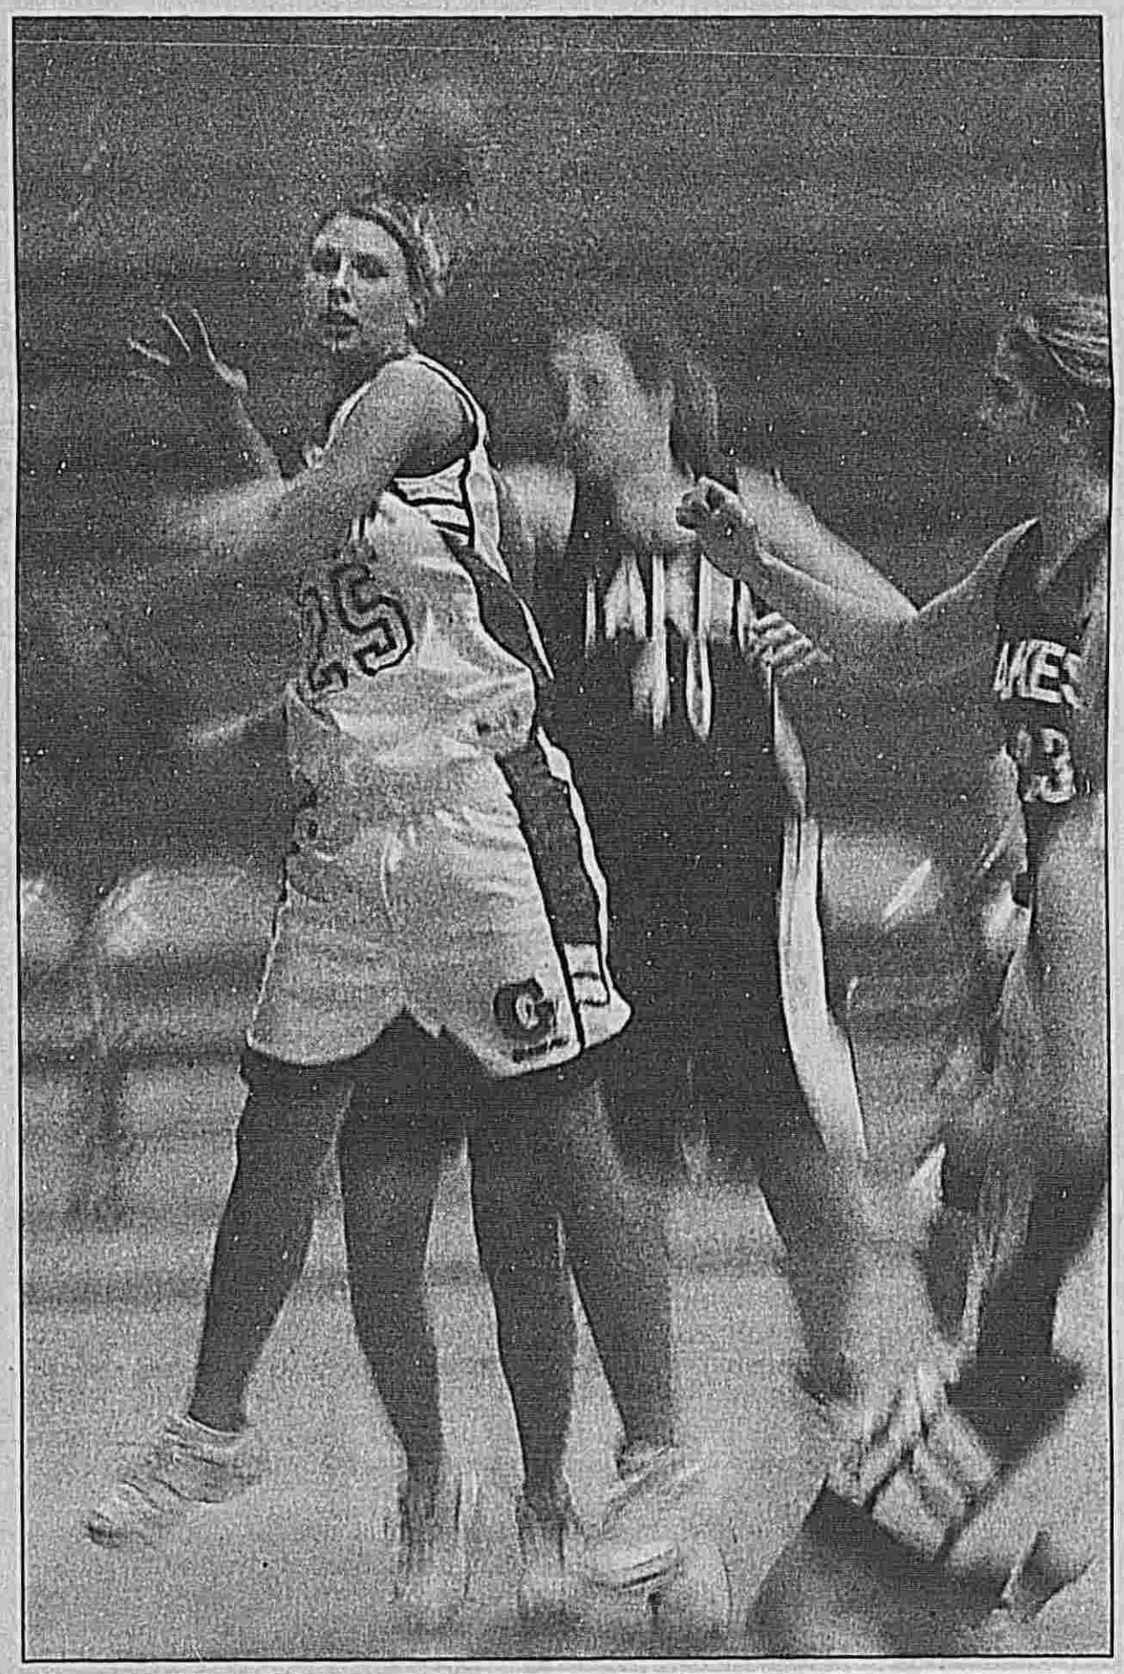

Upperclassmen joining them on the varsity roster will be juniors Stephanie Morse, Jackie Cashmore, and Sam Strickland. Underclassmen will also play a big role on this year's team as sophomores Jazzamin Rivers and freshmen Labrenthia Murdock, Amber Phillips and Ashley Miller will all suit up for the varsity squad. With so many players coming from the freshman and sophomore ranks, Edge is excited about his youthful, if unorthodox roster.

"We're going to be really young, this will be the youngest team I've ever had in 20 years of coaching," Edge said. "We're only going to have one senior starting and that's Vanessa Shook."

LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS

Mundelein
Coach: Brian Evans (7th season)
04-05 Record: 22-9 (6-4 NSC Lake)

Rebuilding is the word of the year for Evans and his Mustangs as the team works to recover from the loss of current college athletes Sarah Miller (Western Illinois University), Ashley Cretacci (Lake Forest College) and Caroline Laird (Illinois College). With such a core gone from Mundelein's lineup, senior forward Kristin Hecht and senior guard Shara Swager will have to pick up the pieces as they saw the most minutes last season.

Also returning are Zellem Henriquez, Marija Jakovlijevic and Amanda Leppert after playing a limited amount of minutes last season. New to the roster are juniors Sara DiNovi, Becca Mahar, Gulneer Nagra, Maria Rocha and Stefanie Withrow and sophomore Sam Panitch is the lone underclassmen on this year's roster.

Warren
Coach: John Stancykiewicz (7th season)
04-05 Record: 29-4 (9-1 NSC Lake)

The Warren Blue Devils are going to try and recapture some of the magic that brought them to the Elite Eight last season. While the loss of guard T.K. LaFleur and Alexandra Leach to the college ranks will certainly hurt, the Blue Devils still have one piece of the trifecta that proved so unstoppable last season – 6-foot-4-inch sophomore Sarah Boothe.

"We graduated 50-percent of our scoring and rebounding last year, but we have the ability to replace it," Stancykiewicz said. "(Boothe) has handled (the pressure) pretty well so far, but other teams are going to really come down on her, so her teammates need to be ready to support her."

Boothe averaged 11.0 points per game and 6.5 rebounds, but she isn't the only returning veteran. Seniors Liz Blaz, Jessica Bollinger and Juleanna Lopez along with juniors Melanie Duplessis and Stacey Leach are the most experienced returnees that Stancykiewicz is placing his hopes for a return trip into the depths of the state tournament.

Also returning are senior guard Lisa Vitale, juniors Deanna Payne. Juniors new to the varsity ranks include Brittany Innes and Jenny Raymer. There will also be a nice injection of youth on the Warren roster this season with sophomore swing player Erin Norwood, sophomore forward Lory Shaw and sophomore guard Shana Shepherd. As the youngest person on the roster, freshman Joree Green will hopefully be able to follow in Boothe's footsteps with a spectacular performance this season.

Wauconda
Coach: Tim Bartusch (7th season)
04-05 Record: 4-21 (2-8 NSC Prairie)

After a difficult 4-21 campaign last season and the loss of key scorers Ali Dorsey, Kirsten Kraus and Krista Llewellyn, Bartusch is ready for a new beginning in Wauconda and that new beginning may come in the form of 6-foot-1-inch freshman Lauren Mead. Mead, along with senior veteran Jessie Middlesworth, could by quite the dynamic duo down low for the Bulldogs this season.

Mead won't be the only new face on the roster as Middlesworth, senior forward Tatiana Batson and senior guard Jessica Schwarz saw significant amounts of time last season. Up from the sophomore ranks are juniors Patrice DaCosta, Katrina Eiserman, Beth Eklund, Kelly Zines, Ashley Powell and Stephanie Marin. Sophomores Katie LePage and Courtney Kimes will be joining Mead as the only underclassmen on Wauconda's 2005-2006 varsity roster.

Waukegan
Coach: Rommel Drake (1st season)
04-05 Record: 5-24 (3-7 Central Suburban South)

There's a new coach and new attitude in Waukegan this season after finishing in the cellar of the Central Suburban South last season. Hopefully, the Bulldogs can turn it around after a disappointing 5-24 '04-'05 campaign. But if they're going to do it, they're going to do it in the trenches as the team features six players at 5'9" or taller.

The senior class should provide some guidance for the new-look Bulldogs as guards Yahaira Cardoza and Andrea Guzman along with forwards Dominique Johnson and Robin Johnson make up the senior class. The junior class has the largest contingent of battle-tested players with shooting guard Ashley Daniels along with forwards Courtnee Doby, Karina Reyes, Sierra Shipley and Jasmine Simmons should make for an impressive core group down low for Drake in his first season at the helm of the program. Shipley is coming off of an impressive sophomore campaign and should be able to contribute more this season.

Youth has also been infused into the Bulldogs this season with freshmen guards Brittany Brown and Danasha Jenkins fighting their way onto the varsity roster. Fellow underclassman Rasheena Jones, a sophomore, should also be able to change the trajectory of some shots underneath the basket as she is Waukegan's tallest player, measuring up at 6-foot-1.

8. Ravinia Festival, Highland Park

Sure, a concert is a concert, but there's not too many places which rival the experience at Ravinia.

Since 1904, Ravinia has been Chicago's "sound of summer." There's the 3,200-seat, open air covered Pavilion, which is the summer home of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, jazz luminaries and legends, and some of the greatest pop, folk, blues and country musicians of today.

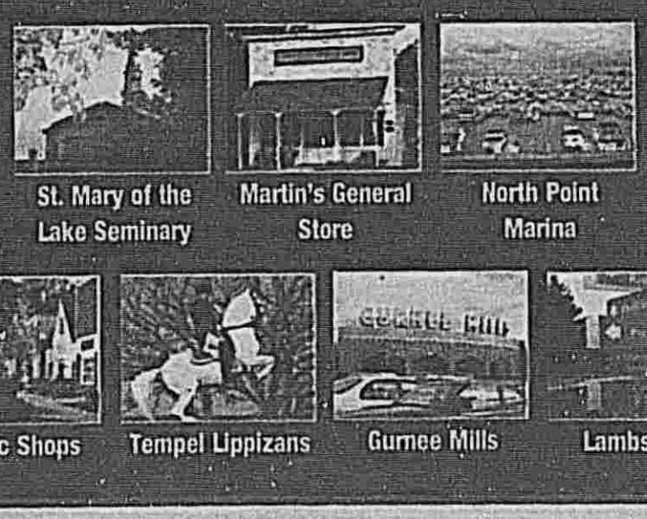

But more popular is The Lawn, which offers an informal and comfortable place to picnic while enjoying concerts, broadcast through a state-of-the-art sound system.

Ravinia, which just celebrated its 100th anniversary in 2004, seems to outdo itself every year with concerts from classical to rock. With a wide variety of events, including outdoor movies, the site has been a family favorite for years.

Don't miss: A drive down Sheridan Road to see its numerous mansions (see next week's wonders).

9. Fort Sheridan

The former U.S. Army post was named after Civil War cavalry Gen. Philip Sheridan, to honor his many services to Chicago from 1868-83.

The Commercial Club of Chicago, concerned since 1877 with the need for a military garrison, was motivated by the Haymarket Riot in 1886 to arrange for the donation of 632 acres to the federal government for the base. Troops arrived in 1887 and were used in 1894 to quell labor unrest during the Pullman Strike.

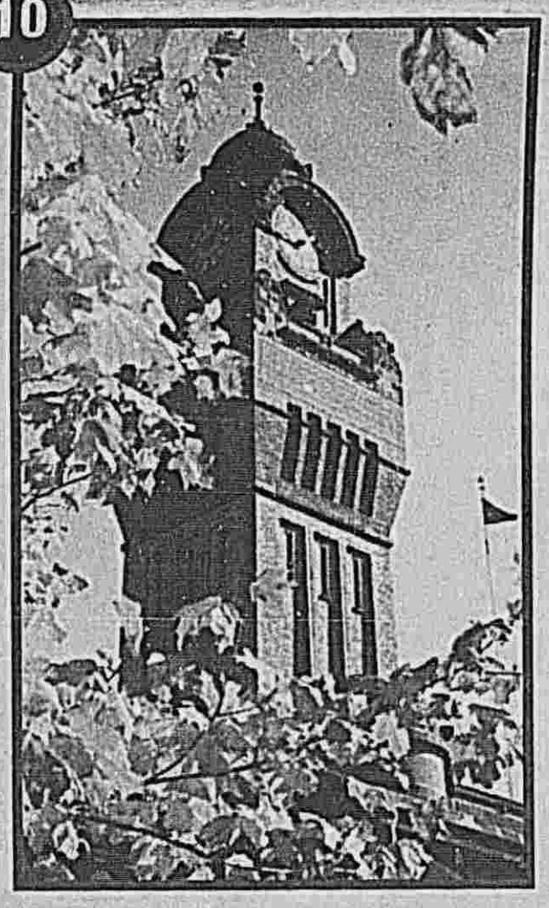

Fort Sheridan became a mobilization, training and administrative center at the start of the Spanish-American War in 1898. During World War II, more than 500,000 men and women were processed here, including Gen. George Patton.

The 94 historic district buildings were make from bricks molded and fired on site using clay from lakefront bluffs. Fort Sheridan closed in 1993 and is now an affluent community.

Don't miss: Some historic barracks and officers homes have been renovated into high-priced homes.

10. Naval Station Great Lakes

Almost shuttered in the military downsizing of the late 1980s, Naval Station Great Lakes is now one has of the navy's only two active boot camps.

President Teddy Roosevelt guided and presided over the founding of Great Lakes Naval Training Center more than 90 years ago.

At the time, the concept of the camp was unheard of, and many people were astounded—to have naval training be done more than a thousand miles from any ocean.

Instead of a Lake Bluff site, which proved to be too expensive, a group of patriotic Chicagoans bought the land, costing more than $100,000 and turned around and sold it to the navy for $1.

Don't miss: Great Lakes Naval Museum, in Building 158, hours: Friday 1 to 4 p.m., Saturday & Sunday, 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., call 847-688-2201.

'after the quake' moves audiences with subtle power

By Tom Witom

The devastating hurricanes that recently hit our shores and the tsunami that struck South Asia earlier have raised awareness of how fragile things really are. Their impact will continue to have a widespread and lingering physical and psychological impact.

It's the same with earthquakes.

Haruki Murakami, a gifted Japanese novelist, visited his hometown of Kobe in 1995 after an earthquake left the city in tatters. "after the quake," a collection of six short stories, came out of that event.

Now Frank Galati has adapted two of those stories and woven them into a lyrical 90-minute one-act play he is directing at the Steppenwolf Upstairs Theatre. With precise, clean and poetic language, the play captures Murakami's comic and disturbing vision.

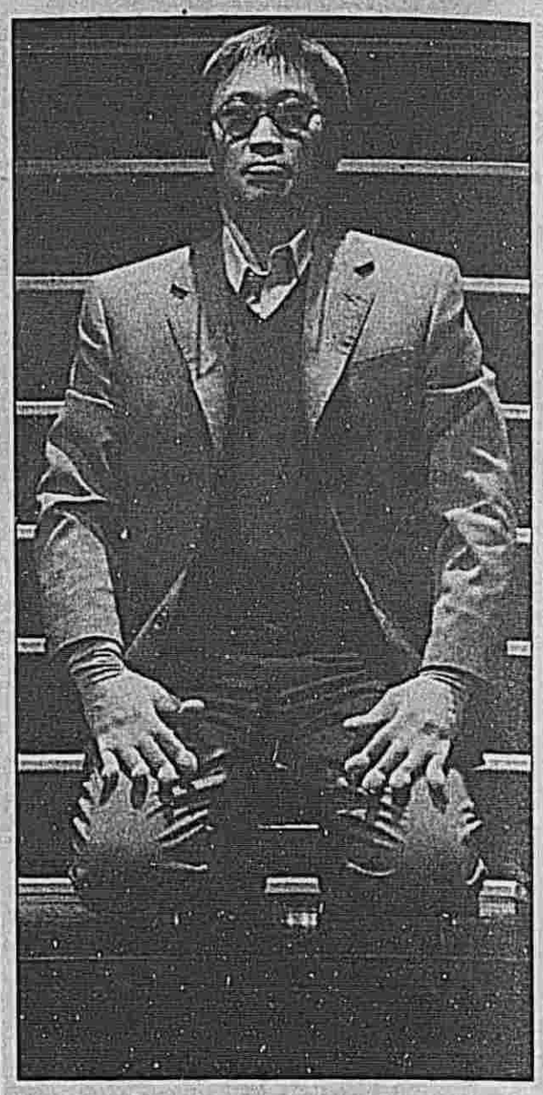

The two stories – "Super Frog Saves Tokyo" and "Honey Pie" – mesh dreams with reality. Expressive cello and koto music, performed onstage, adds to the emotional kick.

An impressionable six-year-old girl, Sala (Kayl Lauren Mei Mi Tucker, alternating with Tiffany Fujiwara) is traumatized by the catastrophe and beset by nightmares of a threatening Earthquake Man. Junpei (Hanson Tse), a short-story writer and friend of Sala's now-single mother Sayoko (Aiko Nakasone), offers comfort to the little girl with his inventive bedtime "honey pie" bear stories.

Junpei has secretly held affectionate feelings for Sayoko ever since college days, but he backed off from expressing himself when his more aggressive journalist friend Takatsuki (Andrew Pang) made the first move. Now, he's finally summoning the nerve to reveal his feelings.

A parallel story introduces Super Frog (narrator Keong Sim, complete with goggles, rubbery gloves and stockings all a garish green), a literary-minded hero who makes frequent references to Tolstoy and Dostoyevsky. Super Frog enlists a nebbishy bank loan officer, Katagiri (Pang, in a dual role), to join him in fighting the Giant Worm which, when it gets angry, causes earthquakes that threaten the survival of Tokyo. Katagiri agrees to help.

"after the quake" gracefully renders profound insights into human consciousness at a time when vulnerability is at its peak.

'It's A Wonderful Life' presented by Wood Street Theater

This holiday season, the Wood Street Theater Company invites you to its 2005 holiday production of 'It's a Wonderful Life-The Musical', the beloved heartwarming holiday classic now with beautiful songs. It's the same beloved story with the same memorable characters, but adapted for the stage with a charming musical score and songs. This endearing musical promises to be bright, colorful and fun for the whole family.

"Everytime a bell rings, an angel gets his wings." Does this ring a bell? A Christmas bell? If it does, maybe you're one of the many people whose hearts have been touched by Frank Capra's cinematic masterpiece, "It's a Wonderful Life". For numerous people and their families, viewing this old 1946 classic (starring the late Jimmy Stewart as George Bailey) has become an essential Christmastime tradition.

Come recapture the magic and excitement. This truly promises to be one delightfully nostalgic and heartwarming evening for both young and old.

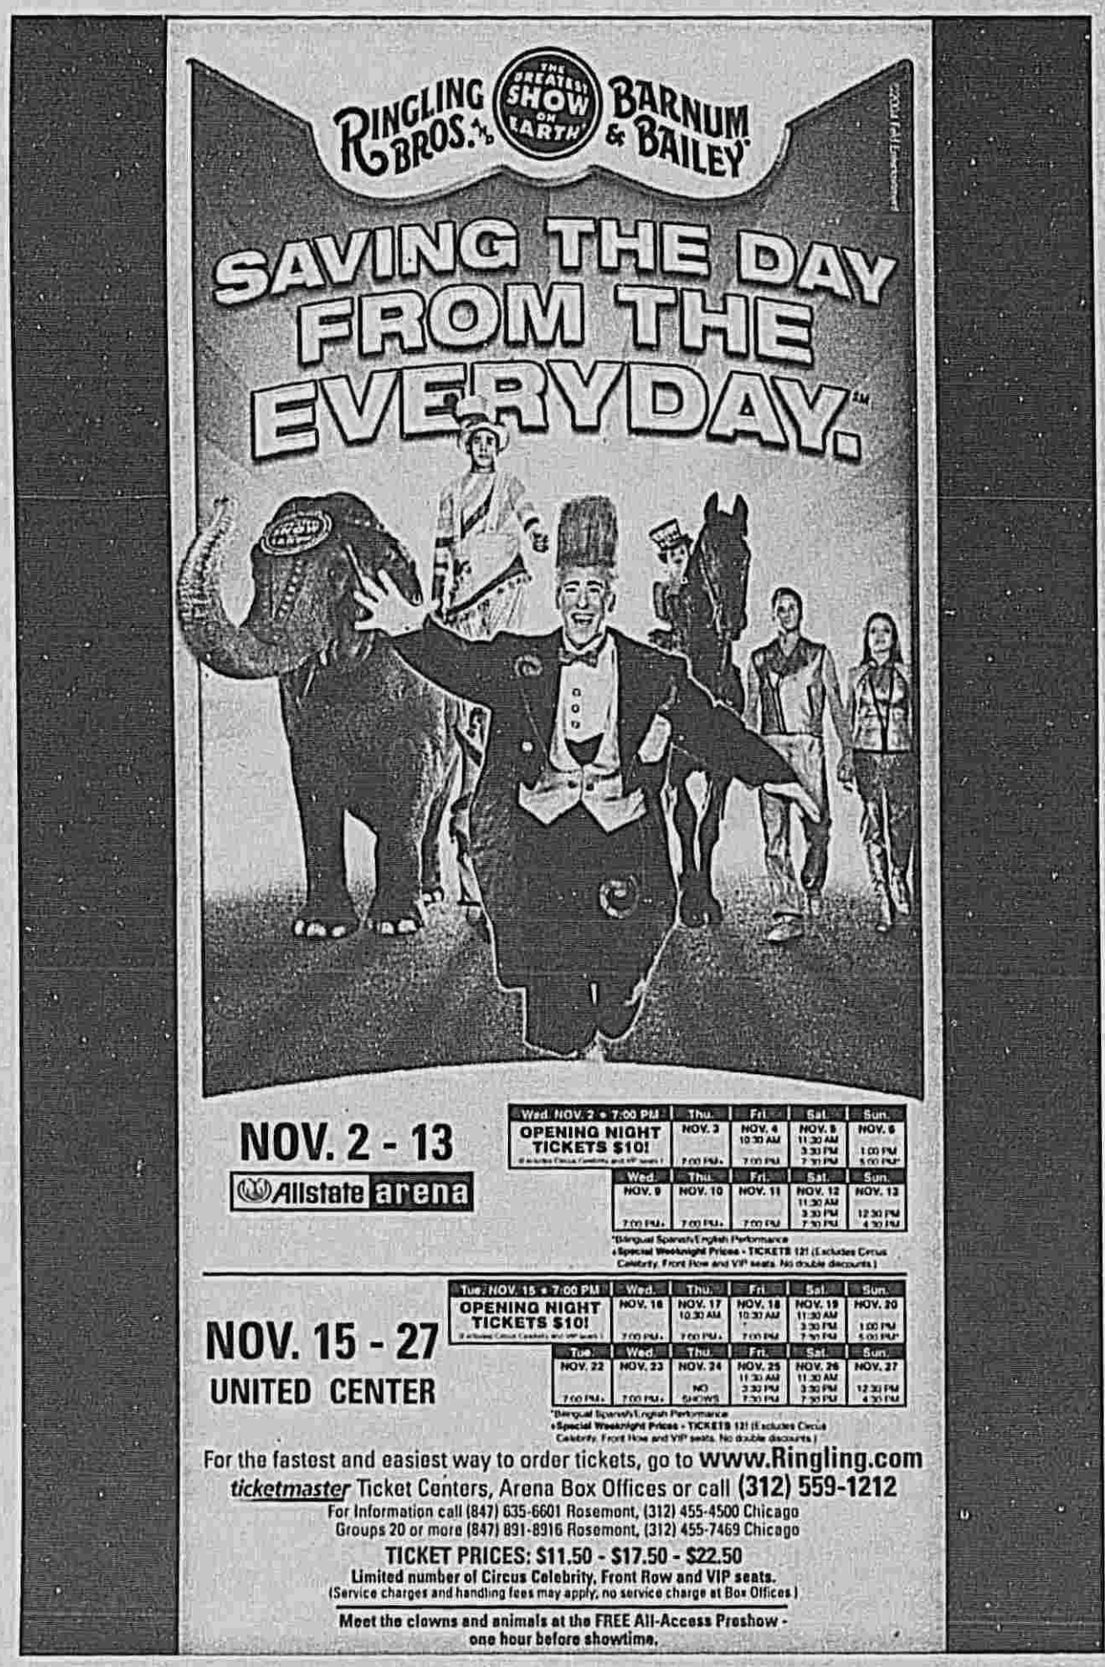

This year's cast and staff come from all over the northwest suburbs and the greater Chicago area.

Lake County Folk Club presents Andrew Calhoun in concert

The Lake County Folk Club continues its 2005-2006 season bringing regional and national touring folk music performer Andrew Calhoun to it's Showcase Stage series on Sunday, Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. at the Greenleaf Grill, 301 Greenleaf St., Park City. The musical event is open to the public and food and beverages are served at the Greenleaf Grill.

Andrew Calhoun is a folk music entertainer, enthusiast and entrepreneur. Calhoun's songwriting and performing talents take an audience from laughter to tears and many places in between. In concert, Calhoun showcase his original music, contemporizes old Scottish ballads, recites poetry, and often covers songs by writers he admires.

June Sawyers of the Chicago Tribune says, "Calhoun is a master at story songs, finely crafted works that swiftly and economically capture a moment or express an emotion." The Oregonian says Andrew Calhoun is "blessed with a resonant baritone, crystalline finger picking and a writer's ear."

Multi-dimensional Calhoun is also the founder of the musician artists, cooperative label, Waterbug Records. Calhoun and Waterbug have brought some of the brightest singer-songwriters and folk musicians to an international audience.

Calhoun's newest recording is a recently released tenth album on his Waterbug label, Staring at the Sun (Songs 1973-1981). Listeners of WFMT's Midnight Special are sure to be familiar with Andrew Calhoun's music.

Andrew Calhoun

Opening for Andrew Calhoun's Showcase Stage performance on Sunday, Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. is singer-songwriter and Lake County Folk Club member, Marcia Krieger. Marcia is sure to get the Showcase Stage evening off to a great start with her fine songs and warm stage presence.

Admission is $6 for adults. $5 for Lake County Folk Club members, students and seniors. All ages are welcome and food and beverages are available at The Greenleaf Grill. For additional information call The Lake County Folk Club at 847-295-7228 or visit www.thelakecountyfolkclub.org.

Kids in the kitchen: Three new books pave the way

Tom Witom

COOKING BY THE BOOK

Cooks are made, not born, and getting grounded in the basics can't start too soon.

Children, with their natural curiosity, often gravitate to the kitchen.

Three newly published cookbooks are geared to fire their culinary imaginations.

"Pillsbury Kids Cookbook: Food Fun for Boys and Girls" (Wiley) is probably the most comprehensive. It includes 66 recipes designed to teach young people math, science and reading skills with hands-on activities that inspire creativity. Chapters range from "Rise & Shine!" and "Tea Party" to "Slumber Party" and "Worth the Wait."

Molly Katzen, author of "Pretend Soup" and "Moosewood Cookbook," offers a new cookbook for preschoolers and up, "Salad People and More Real Recipes" (Tricycle Press). This volume is replete with fanciful illustrations by Katzen which take a child step-by-step toward "Rainbow-Raisin Coleslaw," "Cream of Tomato Soup and Crispy Cheese Crackers," "Mango-Honey Lassi" and the like.

Another recent arrival, the "Cheerios Cookbook: Tasty Treats and Clever Crafts for Kids" (Wiley), makes use of a popular kitchen staple. Using a kid-friendly format which includes whimsical photos, it offers 25 recipes and 10 crafts. Working with their parents, children can discover unexpected ways to crush, roll and mix the cereal.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE-TOPPED CHIPPERS

1/2 cup peanut butter chips
1/2 cup chocolate whipped ready-to-spread frosting
1 pkg. (18 oz.) refrigerated ready-to-bake chocolate chip cookie dough

From "Pillsbury Kids Cookbook"

1. Heat the oven to 350 degrees F.
2. Measure out the peanut butter chips. Toss them into the saucepan. Heat the chips over low heat, stirring a lot with the wooden spoon, until they are melted. Remove the saucepan from the hot burner.
3. Measure out the frosting. Use the rubber spatula to scrape all of it out of the measuring cup and into the saucepan. Stir the frosting and melted chips together with the wooden spoon. Cool the peanut butter mixture in the saucepan about 10 minutes so you can make it into shapes.
4. Take the cookie dough chunks out of the package and put them on the cookie sheet. The dough rounds should not touch each other and should be 2 inches apart. (You do not need to grease the cookie sheet.) Bake the cookies for 10 to 14 minutes or until they look golden brown.
5. While the cookies are baking, use your hands to shape the peanut butter mixture into 20 balls, each about 1 inch around.
6. Carefully take the cookie sheet out of the oven with the pot holders. Right away, press 1 peanut butter ball into the center of each hot cookie. Let the cookies cool 2 minutes on the sheet. Then use the pancake turner to remove them from the cookie sheet.

Yield: 20 cookies

Honey Nut Stacks of Snacks

From "Cheerios Cookbook"

1 1/2 c. packed light brown sugar
1 c. butter or margarine
2 c. HoneyNut cheerios cereal
2 c. quick-cooking or old-fashioned oats
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/4 tsp. salt

1. Heat the oven to 350 degrees F. Place the brown sugar and butter in a 2-quart saucepan. Heat over medium heat, stirring constantly, until smooth. Remove the saucepan from the heat.
2. Stir in the rest of the ingredients. Pour the mixture into an ungreased 13 x 9-in. pan. With a rubber spatula, spread the mixture in the pan until it is even.
3. Bake 16 to 18 minutes or until the edges are golden and firm. Place the pan on a wire rack. Cool completely, about 45 minutes.
4. With a table knife, cut the baked mixture into 6 rows by 6 rows to make 36 bars. Store the bars in a loosely covered container.

Yield: 36 bars.

Broccoli-Cheese Quiche

From "Salad People"

1 1/2 c. chopped broccoli
1 c. (packed) grated Swiss cheese
1 unbaked 9-in. pie shell (store-bought or homemade), not deep dish
4 large eggs
2/3 c. milk
1/4 tsp. salt
2 scallions, trimmed of roots, finely minced (white and green parts)
4 shakes paprika

1. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F.
2. Steam the broccoli over simmering water until bright green and just tender. Refresh in a strainer under cold running water, then drain and dry thoroughly.
3. Sprinkle the cheese into the crust, then distribute the broccoli over the cheese. In a large bowl, whisk the eggs until smooth. Add the milk, salt and scallions, and whisk until blended. Pour this mixture over the broccoli and cheese.
4. Dust the top with paprika, and bake in the center of the oven for 40 minutes, or until solid in the center when gently shaken. Cool on a rack for at least 15 minutes (it can be served warm or at room temperature), then eat!

Yield: 4 to 6 servings. One small pie.

Hassle-Free Holidays

Take a break with sweet treats and freshly brewed coffee

Chewy Cherry Bars

Holidays are all about hospitality, and there's no better way to greet guests than with a delectable treat and freshly brewed hot cup of coffee.

Maraschino cherries brighten an easy-to-make pound cake, making it perfect for a brunch buffet when baked in a Bundt pan or as take-along gifts when prepared as mini loaves. Chewy oat bars too, studded with red cherries, are festive enough for any party, and leftovers (if there are any) make a welcome pick-me-up for weary shoppers.

Best of all, both use ingredients that are probably in your pantry, which makes them quick to make, leaving you with more time to celebrate the season.

Chewy Cherry Bars

Prep Time: 30 minutes
Makes about 4 dozen bars

Crust
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup old-fashioned rolled oats
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 cup butter

Filling
2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar, lightly packed
1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 cup coconut
1 cup maraschino cherries, drained and coarsely chopped (two 10-ounce or one 16-ounce jar)
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Icing
2 Tbsp. butter
1/4 tsp. vanilla extract
1 1/2 c. powdered sugar
1 Tbsp. milk

1. For crust, combine flour, oats, brown sugar and baking soda in mixing bowl. Cut in butter until crumbly. Press into 13 x 9-inch cake pan. Bake at 350°F 10 minutes.
2. For filling, beat eggs, brown sugar and extract together thoroughly. Combine flour and baking powder. Stir into egg mixture. Mix well. Stir in coconut, cherries and nuts. Spread evenly over crust. Bake at 350°F 25 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool completely.
3. To make icing, beat all ingredients together until smooth and creamy. Drizzle over bars.

Cherry Mini Pound Cakes

Cherry Mini Pound Cakes

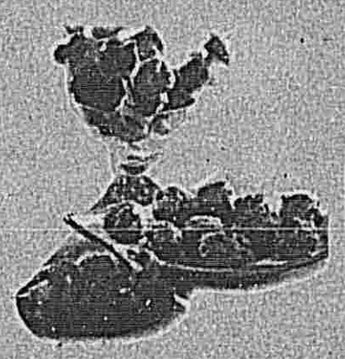

Prep Time: 25 minutes
Makes 6 mini cakes

1 1/4 cups butter, softened
2 3/4 cups sugar
5 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
2 cups quartered maraschino cherries, well drained (two 16-ounce jars or three 10-ounce jars), well drained (reserve juice if using frosting option)*
Powdered sugar

1. In large bowl, with electric mixer, beat butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla on low speed until blended, then on high speed 5 minutes until light and fluffy.
2. Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately with sweetened condensed milk to creamed mixture, mixing lightly after each addition.
3. Fold in cherries. Turn batter into greased and floured mini loaf pans.
4. Bake at 350°F 45 to 50 minutes or until toothpick inserted near center comes out clean.
5. Let cool in pans 5 minutes; invert cakes onto rack and let cool completely.
6. Dust with powdered sugar just before serving.

Note: This recipe may also be prepared in a 10-inch Bundt pan. Use only 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk. Increase baking time to 55 minutes plus 15 to 20 minutes covered loosely with foil, shiny side out. Cake may be dusted with powdered sugar prior to serving or frosted. In medium saucepan, combine remaining sweetened condensed milk with 2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate. Cook and stir over low heat until chocolate melts and mixture thickens. Stir in 1/3 cup cherry juice and spoon over cake.

Mushrooms— one more time

Last week's issue of LakeLife had three mushroom recipes. Although the ingredient lists were correct, the preparation directions were wrong for two of the recipes. The recipes are reprinted below with the correct directions. LakeLife regrets the error.

Spicy Beef and Mushroom Brochettes

1 lb. top sirloin beef, cut into 1-inch cubes
30 Monterey White or Brown Mushrooms
1 red pepper, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 green pepper, cut into 1-inch pieces
1/2 cup canola oil
2 tbl. Chef Paul Prudhomme's Blackened Steak Magic

Place all ingredients in plastic resealable bag. Mix well. Place in refrigerator and marinate minimum 1 hour up to overnight. Stir occasionally.

Thread beef cubes, mushrooms and peppers alternately onto skewers. Cover and refrigerate until ready to cook. Discard any remaining marinade.

Grill over medium heat, turning several times until peppers and mushrooms are browned and beef is done (approximately 8 to 10 minutes). Serve hot.

Yield: 3 cups

Cream Cheese and Prosciutto Stuffed Mushrooms

25-30 small Monterey White Mushrooms, cleaned, stems removed and reserved
3 tbl. canola oil
1 small onion, finely diced
2 tsp. Chef Paul Prudhomme's Vegetable Magic
1 tsp. Chef Paul Prudhomme's Meat Magic
1 clove garlic, minced
6 slices prosciutto, finely chopped
8 ounces cream cheese, softened

Finely chop reserved mushroom stems. In sauté pan, heat canola oil. Add chopped mushroom stems, onion, seasonings and garlic. Sauté 5 minutes. Add prosciutto. Continue to sauté 5 minutes more. Turn heat to low and add cream cheese. Stir until mixture is well blended. Remove from heat and allow mixture to cool slightly.

Preheat oven to 350°F. Generously stuff each mushroom cap and place in baking dish. Bake 15 to 20 minutes. Finish under broiler until tops are golden.

Yield: 25 to 30 appetizers

The ingredients and preparation directions for Mushroom Bruschetta were correct.

The right fence choice gives homes a winning first impression.

Enhance curb appeal with fencing

Fences have been a feature of residential real estate since the first neighbor. The value of a home will benefit from the right choice.

"Fences definitely help shape the first impression of a home that buyers form," says Jerry LoPiccalo of RE/MAX® Professionals in Bolingbrook. "An attractive fence says good things about a house."

But the right fence in one community or neighborhood can differ substantially from what seems appropriate or is even permitted in another. The impact of a fence on property appeal depends heavily on the neighborhood. Fence material should harmonize with the neighborhood.

Also, site the fence carefully to avoid buried utility lines and encroachment on neighboring property.

"If your fence fits in with those of the surrounding homes and is well maintained, it shouldn't cause any problems when you decide to sell," notes Cardigan Shipman of RE/MAX® Signature North.

Whatever the fencing material, make sure it looks good before listing the home.

Walk the Line: Johnny Cash's early years, like Ray Charles', transcended boundaries as he crossed over to reach audiences that were not rooted in country and western music. The film explores the world he came from and his experiences during the time when rock and roll was emerging as a major new form of music. It's also a love story about his relationship with June Carter. Stars Joaquin Phoenix and Reese Witherspoon. Expect Oscar nominations for Phoenix and Witherspoon. (PG-13)

High-adventure burns bright

Harry Potter, Hermione and Ron (Daniel Radcliffe, Emma Watson, Rupert Grint) are back, yet they are quite different. They've crossed the line from pre teens to young adults. The Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry is set to host the Triwizard Tournament, where champions from three schools face death-defying challenges of courage to win the prize of eternal glory. Would-be competitors place their names into the Goblet of Fire, from which the three opponents are chosen. You must be at least 17 to enter but somehow a fourth name emerges from the flames, Harry Potter, of course. He's not of age and for a short while everyone thinks Harry cheated, and it seems as if Harry has lost his best friend, Ron. But why would Harry do that, when each of the three blood-curdling tests exceeds the last?

As Harry overcomes various challenges throughout the story, there are many frightening moments for him, his friends and others. Numerous grotesque creatures on the ground, in the air and under the sea, threaten the brave, young magical warriors. Ralph Fiennes (an exceptionally gifted actor) as Lord Voldemort is a truly terrifying villain.

It's a joy to see Harry, Hermione and Ron as young adults having to make decisions about how they handle themselves with people they trust as well as the ones they don't. There are socially challenging moments for them to face as well.

Asking someone to the Winter Ball can be as daunting as working your way through a tangled maze. To get much deeper into the plot would tell too much about the story. We'll leave that joy of discovery to you. All the usual suspects return in this installment, Snape, Mad-Eye, Wormtail, and of course, the dreaded Lord Voldemort. Harry's protectors are here as well, Dumbledore, Hagrid and Miss McGonagall. But this film belongs to the young champions as they navigate coming of age.

This film truly earns its PG-13 rating and is not for very young viewers.

The fantasy violence and frightening images pack a punch. This is not because of the violence on-screen necessarily but how director Mike Newell is able to translate the imagination of author J.K. Rowling's words from the printed page to the big screen. While the MPAA rating does not speak to sexuality, it's very much an important part of the film. The issue of first dates, dancing and Harry in a bath tub, only to have Myrtle the ghost (Shirley Henderson) appear when he least expects it, addresses male/female relationships with the awkwardness that exists in real life.

The computer-generated images (CGI) are so seamlessly done that it's as if the world you see on the screen might actually exist. Recognizing how each succeeding "Harry Potter" and "Lord of the Rings" film keeps building on prior events, we realize that we allowed ourselves to get caught up in the hype of the last few "Star Wars" films, saying they were better than they actually were. "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire" clearly evolves from the prior films but it stands on its own if you never heard of Harry Potter and just picked a film to see at random. Novelist J.K. Rowling does indeed have quite an imagination. Sharing it on the written page and enjoying the vision of the directors, Mike Newell ("Goblet"), Alfonso Cuaron ("Prison of Azkaban") and Chris Columbus ("Sorcerer's Stone" and "Chamber of Secrets"), on the big screen is truly a treat.

A conversation with Hany Abu-Assad, director of 'Paradise Now'

By George O. Singleton

Hany Abu-Assad arguably presents a film with a balanced view of the Palestine-Israeli conflict. There is a strong, long-time relationship between the U.S. government and the Jewish community in America, and the country of Israel. Arabs are often typecast as religious fanatics, prone to violent acts. How they are viewed with suspicion was an interesting sub-plot in "Flightplan." It was illuminating and refreshing to speak with someone from Palestine who clearly does not fit the mold of mouthing a television sound bite. He gives hope to what clearly is a very bleak situation.

Demonstrating that he has a sense of humor and is interested in American culture, his first question to me was "What is baseball?" I met with him the day after a White Sox home game in the World Series. There was real pressure to explain baseball and to not whittle away too much of my limited time with him to discuss the film. The benefit for both of us was that the conversation was an icebreaker that got us right into the meat of the movie, which is why someone would blow up himself or herself.

Ali Suliman and Kasi Nashef in "Paradise Now"

George Singleton: Other films about suicide bombers have people that accept the calling because of extensive brainwashing ("The Terrorist," The War Within"). In this film, the two men who accept the assignment are clearly not religious zealots but two best friends that spend their time drinking tea and smoking hookah (a shared smoking pipe), when they are not goofing off as mechanics in a deadend job that pays next to nothing. How thru is this?

Hany Abu-Assad: In Palestine, the reasons have nothing to do with religion. Other than possibly wanting to be a hero, the anger and humiliation that is related to living in an occupied territory can make one want to seek their salvation by striking back at those who they believe have no respect for them.

GS: Two young Palestinian men live and work in the occupied town of Nablus, a ghetto not far from Tel Aviv. (As I searched for a word more gentle than ghetto hany emphasized that yes, it is a ghetto).

HA: Unlike ghettos in the U.S., Nablus is governed by the military, as compared to the police. While nearby Tel Aviv is a wealthy city the people that live in Nablus are in a walled concentration camp; they cannot come nd go as they please.

GS: Who needs to do what to stop the cycle of violence?

HA: We need to be given similar consideration as Afro-Americans in the U.S. While I know things are not perfect in the U.S., there is a semblance of equality and respect.

Hany believes that on-violence has a place in resolving the conflict between the Palestinians and Israelis. Non-violent people can resort to violent action when one witnesses the differences between Nablus and Tel Aviv. When you know there is a better life and you can't have it, it brings out the worse in people.

Thanksgiving Day feast planned for Brookfield Zoo

Families will not be the only ones eating a Thanksgiving Day feast on Thursday, Nov. 24. Animals in the Children's Zoo at Brookfield Zoo will receive some extra nutritious and delicious treats. Visitors can join keepers in helping satisfy the appetites of some domesticated animals such as ducks, horses, cows, goats, pigs, llamas, reindeer and a donkey.

The 1 p.m. banquet features the animals' favorites-hog chow, grapes, alfalfa, timothy hay, apples, carrots, sweet corn, lettuce, oranges, bananas and duck chow. Visitors can also watch keepers feed some of the not-so-tame animals like the hawks, eagle, owl, woodchuck and raccoons. Those interested in assisting the keepers feed the animals should meet by the windmill in Children's Zoo.

Children's Zoo is free through Feb. 2006. Admission to the zoo is $8 for adults and $4 for children 3-11 and seniors 65 and over. Children 2 and under are free. Car parking is available for $8.

Brookfield Zoo's mission is to inspire conservative leadership by connecting people with wildlife and nature. Open everyday of the year, Brookfield Zoo is located off First Ave. between the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways and is also accessible via the Tri-State Tollway (I-294), Metra commuter line, CTA and PACE bus service. For more information about Brookfield Zoo, visit www.BrookfieldZoo.org.

11. Lake County Discovery Museum, Wauconda

This is a veritable treasure trove of Lake County history. The museum today features the Lake County History Archives, which provides access to documents and photographs featuring county history and can be viewed by anyone.

The Lake County History Archives include more than 1,400 postcard views of Lake County towns and resorts, more than 200 postcard views of Fort Sheridan, a large photographic collection of Lake County schools, farms, residences, and individuals, plat maps dating from 1861 showing land ownership, a school collection featuring 52 separate one-room school histories written in 1918, the Early Motion Picture Industry Collection featuring Edward Amet (1860-1948) of Waukegan who was the inventor of the first practical 35mm motion picture projector the Amet Magniscope. There's also the Civil War Collection including the history and records of the 96th Illinois Regimental Volunteers and more.

Don't miss: A walk through the nearby Lakewood Forest Preserve.

12. Cuneo Museum and Gardens, Vernon Hills

This 31,000-square-foot Venetian beauty was built in 1916 by Commonwealth Edison founder Samuel Insull, who installed such luxuries as telephones, electrical services, an elevator and a central vacuum.

But its more famous owners, the John Cuneo family, bought the home in 1937 as he and his family lived in it until 1990. It became a museum in 1991.

There's arcaded balconies, a grand staircase and exquisite stained glass windows and murals throughout the home's 18 rooms, including 12 fireplaces and 10 bathrooms. And yes, this was the place where "My Best Friend's Wedding" starring Julia Roberts, was filmed.

Tours are available most days, self-guided on Sunday.

Don't miss: The well-known holiday light show begins Nov. 25, which has the entire grounds lit up with spectacular holiday displays.
Details—Call: 847-362-3042. Web: www.cuneomuseum.org.

13. Great America, Gurnee

In 1976, Marriott's Great America opened a 300-acre theme park, designed by motion picture set designer and architect, Randall Duell. It took two years to build more than 100 buildings and attractions.

But that was then. Today, Six Flags Great America is one of the largest theme parks in the nation, a world-class family entertainment destination featuring thrilling rides, spectacular shows and exciting attractions.

It's home to Superman-Ultimate Flight, a unique coaster that lets you soar through the sky like a superhero. There's also a variety of coasters including Viper, Batman The Ride and Raging Bull, the world's first hyper-twister coaster. There's nearly seven miles of roller coaster track.

Don't miss: Hurricane Harbor, a massive new waterpark that opened in 2005, is a cool treat on a hot summer day.

14. Ott House, Deerfield

The Caspar Ott Log House, built in 1837, is the centerpiece of Deerfield's Historic Village. The Ott House is considered to be the oldest building in Lake County.

This enclave of building is nestled right off of busy Deerfield Road, harkens to a quieter time in the mid-1800s. Along with the Ott House, the Deerfield Historical Society's offices, village store, special historic displays and rural post office are located in the George Luther House, which was constructed in 1847. Nicknamed the "Little House on the Prairie," the 1854 Bartle Sacker Farm House is furnished with artifacts typically used in the daily life of an active farm family.

There's also the Little Red School House, a replica of a 19th-century one-room school. Each year a group of area fourth graders step back in time and spend a day in the Little Red School House as part of their history program.

Don't miss: Upscale shopping nearby at Deerfield and Waukegan roads.

Gone With the Wind

Leslie Glazier-Werner

LES ON LIFE

We searched each other's eyes for memories that might spark conversation. But hope quickly turned into vacant stares as we struggled to accept reality, at our age my mother and I can't even remember the punch line of a joke about forgetfulness:

Two seniors are having lunch together when one says awkwardly, "I'm sorry, but for the life of me I can't remember your name." After several minutes the other senior finally responds, "Uh, when do you need it?"

Aging is like commuting in Lake County. Everyday you spend more time stuck in idle, lose your tailpipe after one too many potholes, and then end up running into more and more roadblocks enroute.

These roadblocks are the losses that accompany the passing years. As a result, I now only "feel my oats" when I'm eating to reduce my cholesterol, and my mom has a reminder posted on her front door that reads "TEETH."

But I'm not complaining because so many deal with significant losses at a much earlier age. And many of these folks take to heart the adage, "The only disability in life is a bad attitude"—even when they're facing death.

As a child I played with a young boy in Sunday school who was shunned by other kids because his baldhead was scarred by surgery for a brain tumor. During his last ambulance ride to the hospital he was more concerned with comforting his parents than his imminent death.

It's amazing that the human spirit transcends such daunting physical limitations—plus the additional handicaps of discrimination and isolation often imposed by society. This was true for the young, vital Franklin Delano Roosevelt when he contracted polio in the 1920s. Rather than hide himself as a crippled invalid, he went on to become President, successfully guiding the nation through four terms of economic upheaval and world war.

Still, as described in the biography, "FDR's Splendid Deception," Roosevelt knew he had to conceal his handicap in order to gain the public's confidence. FDR went to extraordinary efforts to appear as if he was walking or standing, and he was rarely pictured in a wheelchair. However, during one campaign stop the leader of the free world secretly scaled the fire escape to an auditorium by "hauling himself up the stairway using only his arms, dragging his body up, step by agonizing step."

Anyway, I'd like to think I've also gained strength of character with each setback. But unlike Roosevelt, it's hard to care about appearances at my age. So "Frankly my dear, I don't give a..." ah, what was I saying?"

Holiday art sale features fine art gifts

Unique gift ideas will abound at the College of Lake County's Annual Holiday Art Sale, which will be held Dec. 3 to 6. The sale will feature original art, including hand-made jewelry, wearable art, ceramics, sculpture, photography and holiday decorations.

The event will be held in the atrium located outside the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art in the Learning Resource Center at CLC's Grayslake Campus. Parking is available in Lots 7 and 7A, just off the Brae Loch Road entrance to the campus.

The sale will be held on Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Sunday, Dec. 4, from 1 to 5 p.m.; and Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 5 and 6, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The Holiday Art Sale is sponsored by the CLC Foundation and proceeds help fund student scholarships.

"This juried art sale will include a variety of hand-made art pieces from 50 different Illinois and Wisconsin artists," said Donna Sands, community exhibits center assistant at CLC. "The holiday art sale is a perfect place to find unique holiday gifts for the art lover on your shopping list."

For information, call Donna Sands at 847-543-2405.

SciTech to hold annual SciBee

Aurora-SciTech Hands On Museum will hold its fifth annual SciBee Friday, Nov. 25. Children in grades one through eight can compete in a double-elimination tournament by answering multiple choice and true-falsescience based questions.

The fun starts at 11 a.m. for children in grades one through four and kids in grades five through eight will compete at 1 p.m. The children compete in four levels- grades 1-2, 3-4, 5-6, and 7-8. The cost is $5 per entrant, plus admission into SciTech. Prizes will be awarded to the Top Three contestants in each age group and the winner in each group wins the opportunity to appear on WSPY TV's Fox Valley Today Show Nov. 28. Contestants should plan to arrive at least 30 minutes before the contest. To pre-register call 630-859-3434, ext. 210.

The SciBee is sponsored by WSPY TV and The Discovery Stop Gift Shop.

SciTech Hands On Museum is located at 18 W. Benton Street in downtown Aurora. Admission is $7. Children under age three are free, as well as SciTech members.

The museum is open 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays; and Noon to 5 p.m. Sundays. SciTech will be closed on Thanksgiving, Nov. 24. For information, call 630-859-3434 or visit www.scitech.museum on the web.

SciTech Hands On Museum engages people in experiencing science and technology in a fun and interactive way!

Children and families from northern Illinois explore, experiment and discover our modern world using more than 200 hands-on exhibits. SciTech also offers world-renowned special traveling exhibitions and educational programs, so there is always something new to see and do!
